Focusing on a Year of Change

The beginning of this school year, August, 1980, signaled the beginning of a new lifestyle at St. Patrick. This new lifestyle and its changes are focused upon by the Shamrock 1981, which itself, has a new style and look.

Perhaps the most obvious change this year was a new class schedule, in which all classes were shortened to 45 minutes and a 25 minute homeroom/study period was positioned in the middle of the school day. This short period not only allowed time for study, but also permitted the playing of intramural games.

In years past, the intramural program wasn't very successful because it lacked student involvement. Students simply didn't want to participate in games before and after school. With the new available time, however, all students had the opportunity to take part in the intramural program. Those homeroom members not participating were allowed to share in the enthusiasm of their H.R. teams as spectators. Because the intramural program played such an integral part in the students' lives, it required full time attention. To provide this attention, Mr. William Sienkiewicz volunteered to handle the program as intramural coordinator and Student Council co-moderator.

Our Student Council received not only a third moderator, but also an entire facelift. The entire general assembly of homeroom representatives was eliminated, and a new student Senate was formed. Each of the four classes elected five members of their class to represent them in this Senate.

Because of this decrease in size, the Student Council was able to operate more efficiently.

Although everyone knew that Bro. Neil became the new principal at St. Pat's, most were unaware of the new responsibilities that other faculty members acquired. Mr. Presslak became moderator of the Freshman Class, while Mr. Hayes moderated the Sophomores. Bro. Anthony took charge of vocations, so that more emphasis could be placed on this important area of Christianity, while Bro. David Galinski devoted his time to the recruitment of seventh and eighth graders who are interested in attending St. Patrick. Junior Counselor, Bro. David Pieters assumed co-moderator's responsibilities of the St. Patrick Parents' Club, joining Brother Peter Donlan in helping with the operation of this Club.

Among other changes for this year, our own cheerleaders received a new set of newly designed uniforms, intended to improve their visual presentation. As you flip through these pages of pictorial history, you will also notice a new visual presentation designed to increase appeal and interest.

Celebrating 300

Among the many changes that have taken place in our school this year is the new double assembly schedule. The first opportunity to use this schedule was for an excerpt from a performance entitled "Brothers in Concert." This performance also gave the St. Pat's community a chance to experience a cultural event early in the year.

"Brothers in Concert" was performed by Bro. Laurence Walther, FSC, Chairman of the Department of Music at St. Mary's College in Winona, Minnesota, and Bro. Vincent Malham, FSC, Director of the music program at Christian Brothers' College in Memphis, Tennessee. This mini-concert also gave two seniors, Steve Shreiner and Bill Egan, a chance to display their musical abilities by singing Billy Joel's "It's Still Rock And Roll To Me." This concert was part of a commemorative tour which performed worldwide, including Chicago's Orchestra Hall, in celebration of the 300th anniversary of the founding of the Christian Brothers.

A Record-Breaking Event

The raffle event turned out to be a truly record-breaking event. The school percentage for the first raffle day was $5 — a new school record and a great start. Bro. Nick coordinated the event and Bro. Thomas Dominick canvassed and distributed the weekly results of the drive.

The top homerooms were Mr. Collins' freshman homeroom 21 with a total of $2,492.21 ($73.45%), Bro. Richard's sophomore homeroom 309 with a total of $2,888.50 ($75.2%), Bro. Anthony's junior homeroom 107 with a total of $3,311.00 ($27.18%) and Mr. Kellner's senior homeroom 310 with a total of $2,481.00 ($61.82%).

Student support of this activity was widespread especially from freshman R. Doyle with $424.00, sophomore R. Jelliers with $677.00, juniors M. Boehm with $751.00 and R. Williams with $7,100 and senior R. Banak with $466.00. The winners of the drawing, chosen at the first Las Vegas night of the year, were $1,000 prize — Charles Coles whose winning ticket was sold by Mike Herkes (HR 105). $500 prizes were won by Carole Buckley and Martin Gibson whose winning tickets were sold by Dan Buckley (HR 311) and Martin Gibson (HR 322) respectively.

Valiant Efforts Fail

Despite unfortunate results, this year's Homecoming Game at Hanson Stadium once again displayed a valiant effort by our football team. Although our team held Marist scoreless through the first half, Marist retaliated in the third and fourth quarters. One highlight of the game was a 78 yard kickoff return by Mickey McGuire bringing the ball to the 22 yard line. Though failing to score, our team picked up its only points with a safety. During this game Mike Bersani led the defense with 6 tackles while Kevin Gregory and John Haniacek aided the defense with 5 and 4 tackles respectively.

Supporting Our Shamrocks

Among its opening activities for the new school year, the Student Council organized and ran the events of the Homecoming Week. Because of the celebration of Columbus Day on Monday, Homecoming Week officially opened with Grub Day on Tuesday. Students were allowed to wear jeans, gym shoes, hats, and rock T-shirts during the school day. Wednesday brought the students an opportunity to do something that they normally do not get to do: throw pies (shaving cream on a sponge) at their favorite teachers. Bro. Anthony, Bro. Kevin, Mr. Collins, and Dean Schmidt willingly sacrificed their faces to the flying shaving cream pies thrown by their loyal admirers.

The next day's homecoming events brought us into the school cafeteria. Instead of the traditional Ice Cream Social, which normally takes place, the Student Council sponsored a different kind of social called the Sub-Pub. There, nine-inch submarine sandwiches were sold, along with other refreshments. Here, also, the Battle of Guitarists took place in which St. Pat's best guitarists competed for a twenty-five dollar first prize. Faculty members heard and voted on the best guitarist and decided that Mike Yates was the win-

Friday was called Green and Gold Day, where students and teachers were encouraged to wear green and gold clothes (to enhance the spirit of the event). Students and teachers also signed a long poster which read "Support our Shamrock Football Team". This poster was later given to head coach Frank Bauer. To round out the events of Homecoming Week, the Homecoming Semi-Formal took place at Tivoli Banquet Hall on Friday. At the dance, Julie Jones of Resurrection High School was presented as the Homecoming Queen of 1980. The hundreds in attendance enjoyed the festivities and danced the evening away.

"The Imaginary Invalid"

Directed by Mr. Jack Nelson, this year's play, entitled "The Imaginary Invalid," was written by Moliere in the 16th century. Mr. Nelson was assisted by Ms. Worcester, the Assistant Director, Mr. Venegoni, the Technical Manager and Mr. Zimmerman, the House Manager. Rich Jett played the title role in the production.

The play was set in 16th century France and depicted the negative attitude of the people at this time toward the medical profession. The members of the cast portrayed their roles before crowds averaging 100 people who attended each of the four performances. A special presentation was also performed for about 185 students from neighboring grammar schools.

Seniors Find Themselves

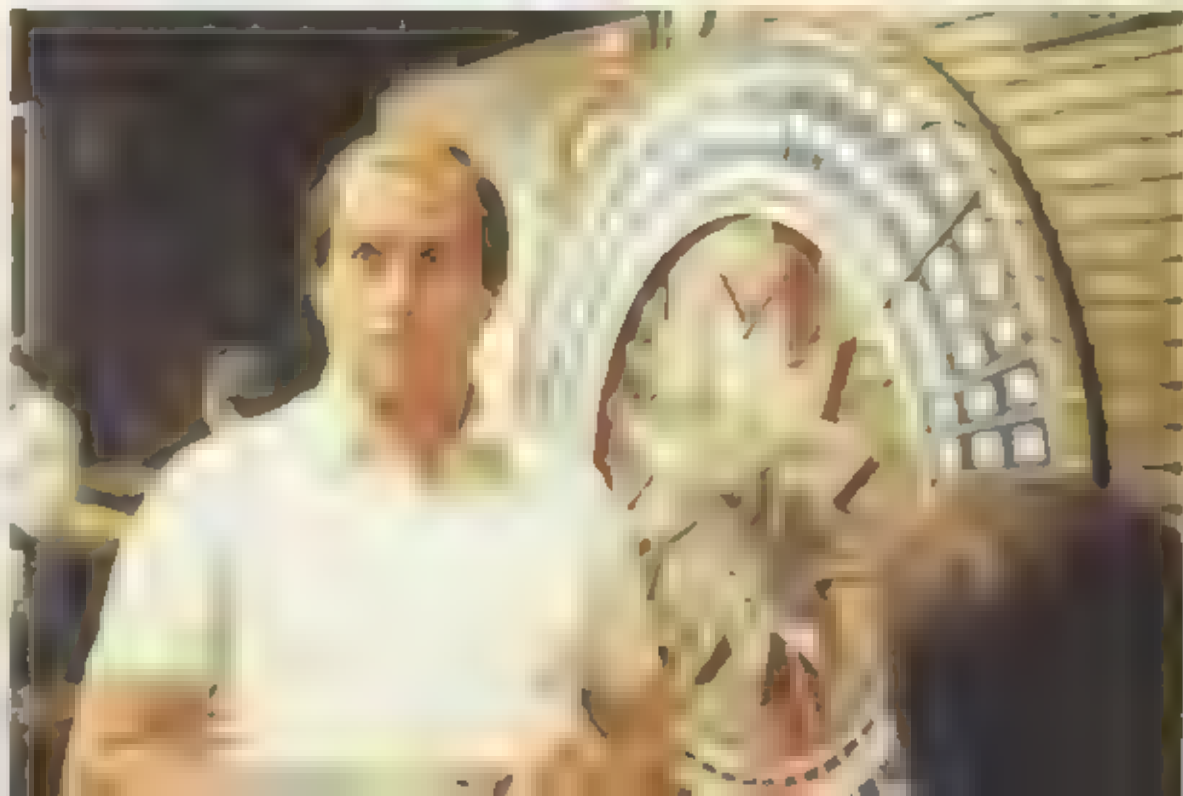

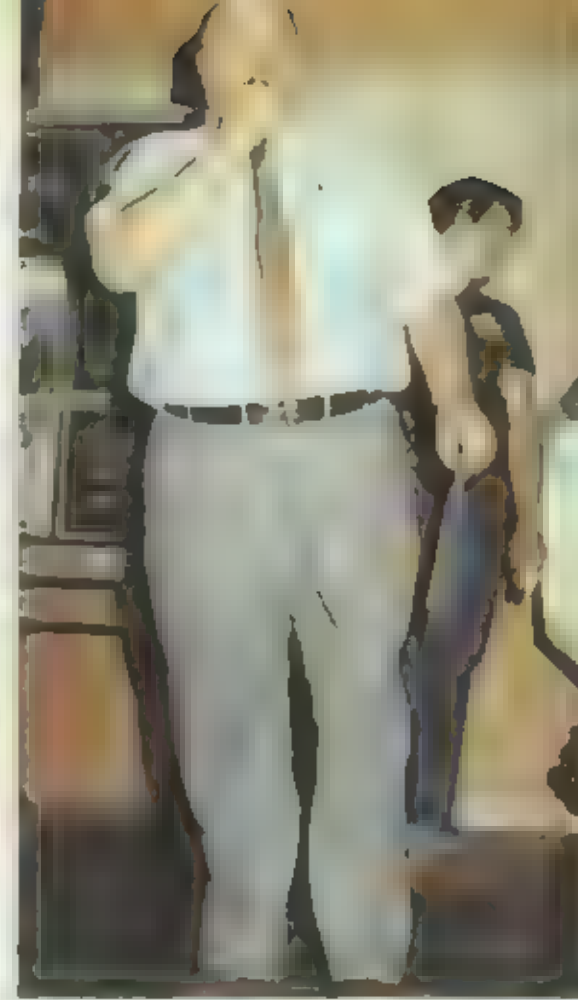

The Senior coed retreat with girls from Nazareth High School differed in style from the Junior retreats which all St. Pat's students must attend. The theme of the Senior program was finding oneself through self-evaluation and understanding others. The retreat also consisted of small group sessions, maintaining a journal, and special dyad conversation sessions. All of this took place at the Christian Brothers' La Salle Manor in Plano, Illinois. The solitude and easy-going atmosphere at Plano make it a perfect retreat hide-away. Along with the spiritual parts of the retreat, there are numerous facilities for recreation there. Since the weather was pleasant for both retreats, students were able to enjoy hiking, swimming, tennis, and football. When indoors, retreaters could play pool, ping pong, and other games such as chess and monopoly. It was during spiritual experiences such as these that the members of the retreat were able to grow spiritually and mentally.

Sponsored by the St. Patrick's H.S. Parents' Club, two Las Vegas Nights were held each semester in the gym which was festively decorated to give the effect of a gambling casino. With the support of moderators Bro. David Pieters and Bro. Peter Donlan, parents and members of the faculty volunteered their time to deal cards or help out in a variety of other ways. Each weekend was attended by capacity crowds, enabling the Parents' Club to garner sufficient funds for their treasury, permitting them to continue in their generous support of Saint Patrick H.S.

The efforts of these weekends allowed the club to pay for the new central air conditioning system that was installed in the gym over the past summer, as well as to help out with other necessary improvements.

The Boyzz: A Rockin' Success

The rock work and metal playing by the Student Council resulted in a special event from The Boyzz. The chief contributors to this event were Mike Dostalowsky and Ted Featherberger, who became part of the Student Council Moderators.

The Boyzz, having previously produced two albums and played in many Chicago rock clubs, drew a crowd of about 750 enthusiastic fans from St. Paul and neighboring high schools. Included in the concert as special effects were white fog, fire works, confetti, lighting and plenty of rock and roll.

Chorus Sets Tone for Christmas

On December 10th the SPHS 50 member chorus was joined by the 85 member Junior-Senior Glee Club of Madonna H.S. at the Wright Junior College auditorium to perform before a full house. The Chorus began the concert wearing their new chorus sweaters and later appeared in tuxedos. During the performance a few members performed solos to the excitement of intent listeners.

Later, some chorus alumni joined in, demonstrating their continued support and developing talent. The Brass Ensemble from DePaul University accented the performances by accompanying the SPHS Chorus in a combined number and playing lively marching tunes.

Highlighting the evening, both choral groups assembled for a tribute of Carols and performed Do You Hear What I Hear as a finale.

A major religious activity in which all students at St. Pats must participate in is the Retreat Program. All the Juniors attended their two day retreat at LaSalle Manor in Plano, Illinois. This retreat took them away from the hustle and bustle of the city and gave them a chance to look at life from different perspectives. The retreatants were given the opportunity to analyze the road they want to follow in life through numerous large and small group discussions. The climax of the retreat was the "Journey," a deep and unforgettable meditation, where the participants "saw" God and truly found themselves. The huge and serene area of LaSalle Manor, which is run by the Christian Brothers, provides the perfect atmosphere fulfilling the purpose of the retreat.

The freshman and sophomore retreats, which are held at the Cabrini Contact Center, were very similar. Like the junior retreats, the frosh-soph retreats consisted of large and small group discussions. Under the direction of Mr. Bill Easton and with the help of several upperclassman aides, the freshmen and sophomores discovered that they are all lovable and capable.

Showing Spirit

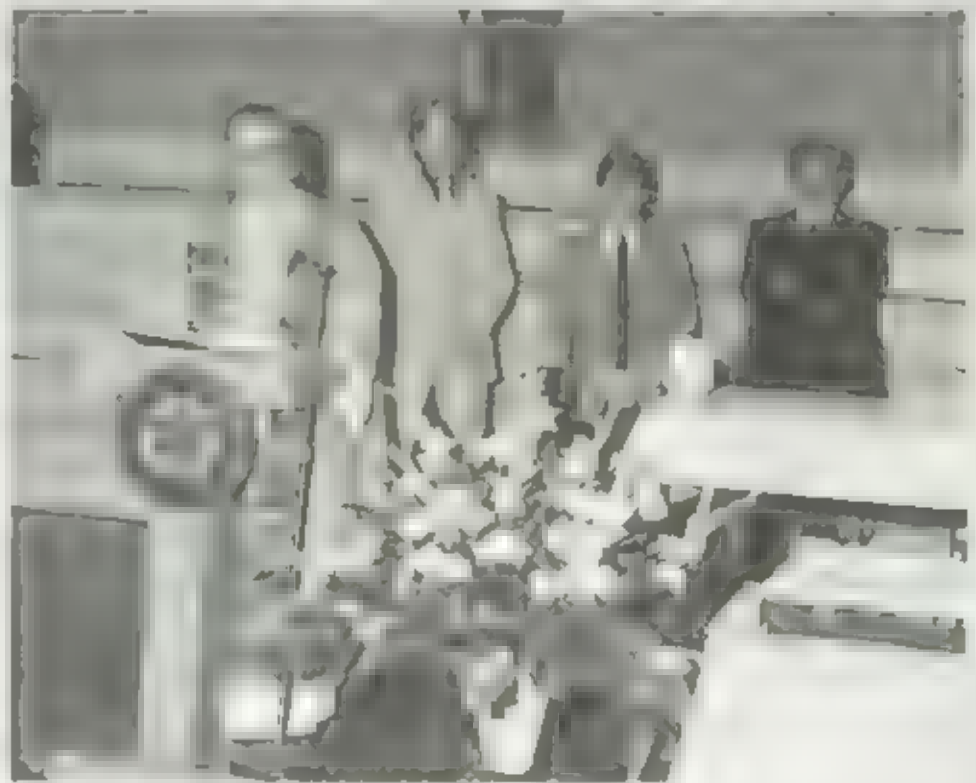

In order to create the proper spirit and pride for our school's athletic teams the Student Council introduced Spirit Week. On Monday, Spirit Week began with Spirit Assemblies aimed at honoring athletes of our basketball, wrestling and swimming teams. These assemblies were held during second and third periods and were run by Mr. Niall Collins and Mike Dolatowski.

On Tuesday, students were allowed to wear any type of shirt displaying the name St. Patrick. Athletes wore their jerseys and other students were allowed to wear their gym shirts. The week continued with Wednesday's Student vs. Faculty basketball game. Teachers were encouraged to allow their sixth and seventh period classes to watch this exciting event in the gym. In the end, to the disappointment of the students, the faculty won with a score of 56-51. Thursday saw the students competing against each other in an All-Wrestling contest. This event was open to all Juniors and Seniors who wished to participate. The Senior Champions were Mike Biancalana and Luciano Orta, while the Junior winners were Peter Dovie and Joe Marbach. Friday's 69-52 basketball victory over St. Vator proved that the spirit built up during the week was not lost. After Mike Broderick's 34 point game, all were invited to the cafeteria where, for one dollar, they received a soda and were entertained by the rock band, Physis.

In order to emphasize the significance of receiving a class ring, a Junior Ring mass was once again held here at St. Pat's. Although the tradition of Ring Masses dates back a long time in St. Pat's history, it has, in recent years, not been followed. The custom was successfully re-adopted in 1980 and, once again, made a permanent St. Pat's tradition. The mass, which was held in our gym on March 11 in the evening, was attended by a majority of Juniors and their families. During the mass the significance of the rings was explained and the rings were blessed. After the ceremony and the ring distribution, everyone was invited to a small reception in the cafeteria, where the Parents Club served refreshments.

In Commemoration of the three-hundredth anniversary of the founding of the Christian Brothers, Bro. Pablo Basterrechea F.S.C., Superior General of the Brothers, toured the United States stopping at many of the Brothers' schools. During this tour, Brother, who resides in Rome, made several stops in Chicago.

His first stop in Chicago was on Monday, Feb. 23 at De La Salle H.S., where he and John Cardinal Cody were the guests at an assembly. During this assembly, Cardinal Cody received a plaque for his assistance to the Christian Brothers, and Bro. Pablo received a check for $5,000 to be used for the needy people of developing countries.

Tuesday was the day that Bro. Pablo visited the St. Patrick H.S. community. Here, he met with the Administration, members of the Region Department, some of the lay faculty, the Brothers and the Executive Board of the Student Council in closed sessions. He had mostly positive comments, but included a few suggested improvements.

On Wednesday, a mass was held at Holy Name Cathedral for the Christian Brothers. Along with Bro. Pablo, all members of the St. Patrick's Community were invited to attend. Previously, Mayor Jane Byrne had proclaimed Wednesday, Feb. 25th as Christian Brothers Day in Chicago and as a result, Thursday was declared a holiday in honor of the founder of the Christian Brothers, John Baptiste De La Salle.

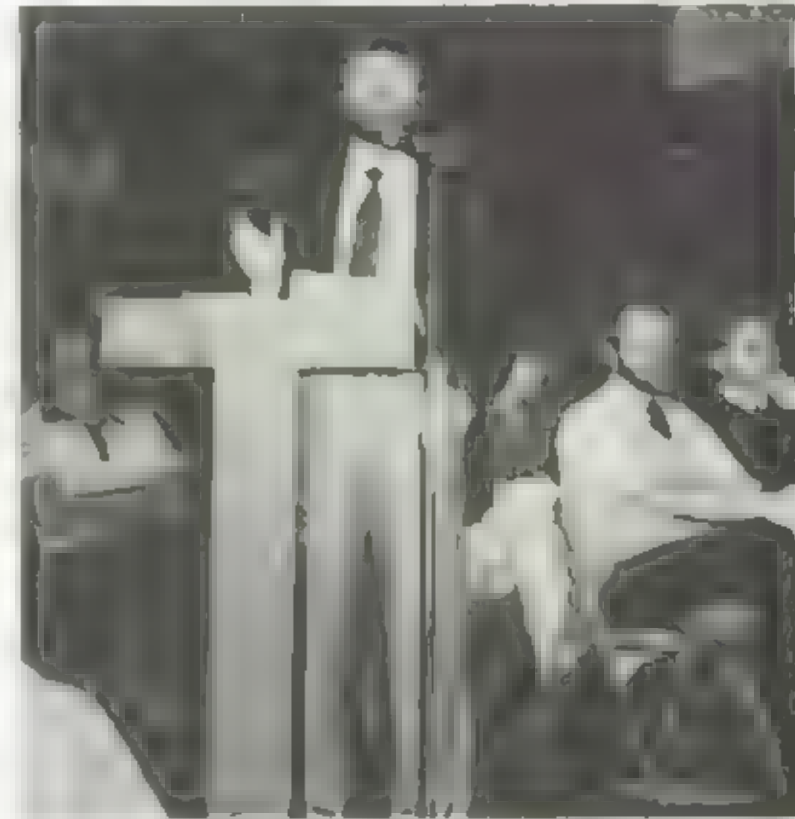

Stressing Spiritual Growth

Because of the stress placed upon Religious education at St. Pat's, the student is provided with the perfect atmosphere for spiritual development. To facilitate this, the Religion Department sponsors a number of religious activities for the student to attend during the school year.

In the beginning of the year, a Mass of the Holy Spirit was held. The main purpose of this mass, as its title suggests, was to ask the help of the Holy Spirit in the coming school year. As November approached and Thanksgiving came around we thanked God for his many gifts at mass. The emphasis of this celebration was to make each student aware of all that God had given him and to encourage him to offer an expression of thanks to Him.

The Religion Department also encouraged students to participate in other liturgical services. On Ash Wednesday, ashes were distributed in a special liturgy designed to emphasize the meaning of Lent. In the weeks of Lent that followed a week was set aside to contemplate vocations. The highpoint of this week was a mass dealing with the theme of vocations. The guest speaker at the mass, Bob Thomas of the Chicago Bears, was invited to speak to the students about his vocation as a Christian athlete and vocations in general.

At the end of the Seniors' 4 years, while they were preparing for graduation they gathered together for one last mass. Entitled The Senior Mass of Thanksgiving, it was intended to help the graduates reflect on their last four years and to thank God for the learning and growth that took place.

'80 Record Surpassed in '81

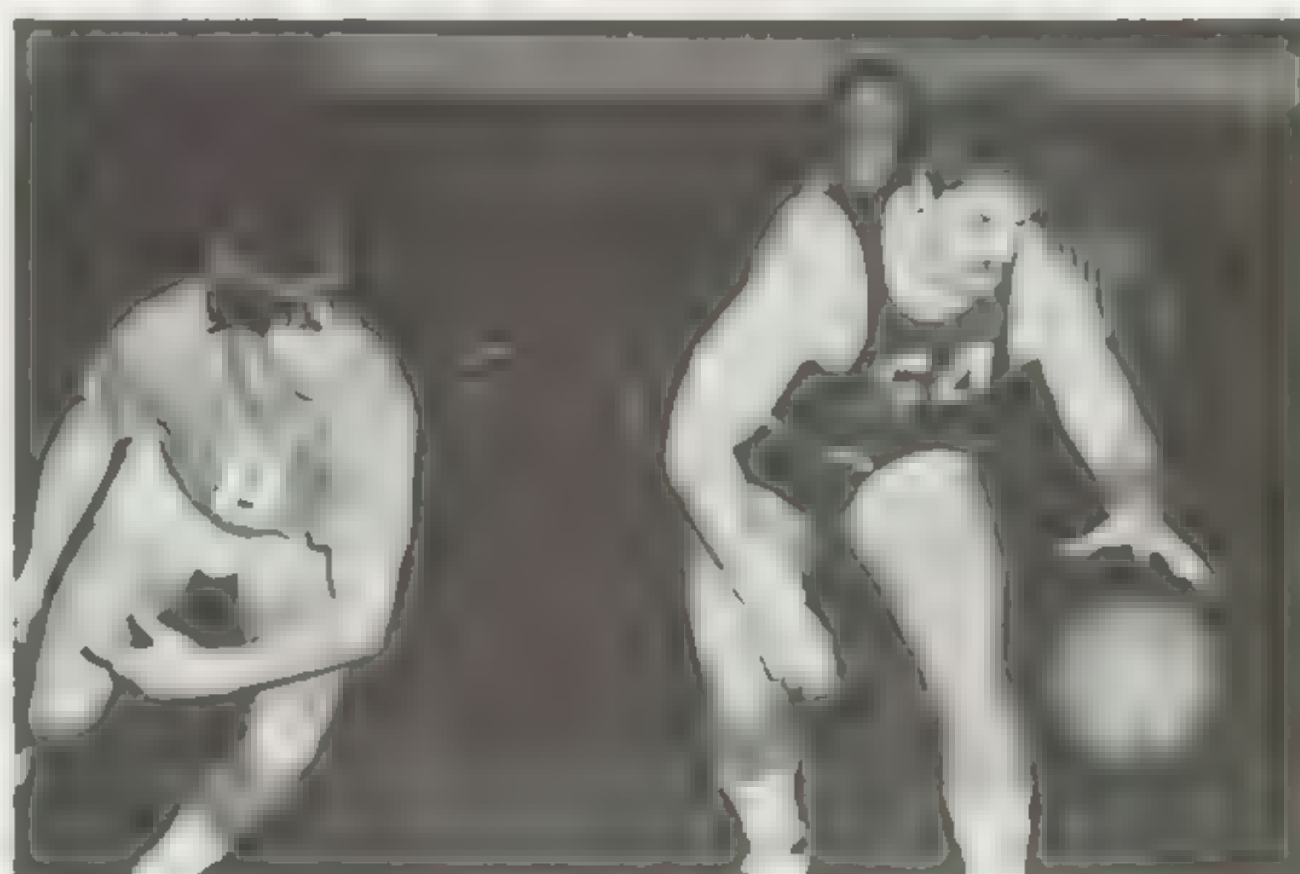

The 246 pints of blood collected on March 11, 1981 set a new record for the annual blood drive co-sponsored by the Medical Careers Club and the United Blood Services. This year's total surpassed the 1980 record collection of 196 pints. The St. Patrick High School Blood Assurance Program was coordinated by Mr. Bert Welker, Co-Chairmen senior Ken Zell and junior Harold Grant. The Blood Assurance Program guarantees free blood for any member of the St. Patrick family and their immediate relatives for one year.

The recruitment for blood donors started with an assembly run by Mr. Welker and the members of the Medical Careers Club. The success of the blood drive was attributed to this assembly and other efforts, such as a vigorous poster campaign. The seven year campaign has netted a grand total of 1,271 pints.

Entertainment at Its Best

One of the many new and exciting events that occurred at St. Pat's this year was a Bears Faculty basketball game. In this game a few members of the Chicago Bears Football Team played a game of basketball against a few select members of our very own faculty. During the game the Bears entertained the crowd with some comical plays and humorous words. The Bears also had some fun with the many children in the crowd. At one point in the game Mr. Buscarn, the referee, and one of the Bears decided to change roles causing roaring laughter from the spectators. To top off the occasion, two Honeybears joined to cheer on their team. This event was extremely successful drawing a crowd of over one thousand. With much effort and a little bending of the rules the Bears officially won the game.

Sharing a Pleasant Evening

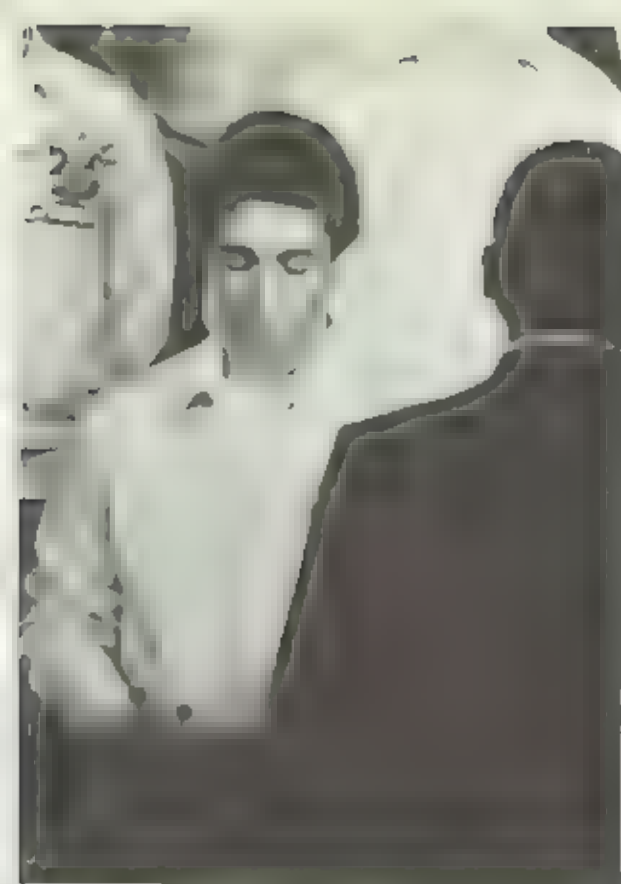

On Friday, April 3, 1981, the Juniors attended their Junior Prom, which was held at Brigante's in Des Plaines. The Prom which began at 8:00 P.M., had Always and Forever as its theme with the music being provided by Unity. Thanks to the efforts of Bro. David Galinski, the 92 couples in attendance enjoyed a variety of dancing and music. Juniors received mugs as a souvenir and were able to have their portraits taken with their dates.

Ending With a Song

The Spring Choral Concert, produced through the efforts of Bro. Ralph and our own Chorus with the cooperation of Mrs. Diane Jankiewicz and the Madonna Junior-Senior Glee Club, highlighted the season of spring with its many expertly performed numbers. After a brief preview, performed before the students of both Madonna and St. Pats, the entire production was performed before full house crowds in our gym which was festively decorated with Grecian pillars and all the colors of the rainbow. Special attractions included a special guest appearance by both the DePaul brass and string ensemble and the alumni and faculty who performed independently of one another.

For the first time in St. Pat's history, the Thespian Society sponsored a Spring Renaissance Festival. Held in the student courtyard on the evenings of May 15th, 16th, and 17th, the performances consisted of a series of single acts drawn from the plays of Shakespeare. Intended to highlight the variety of moods and conflicts exhibited by Shakespeare, the approximately 40 actors demonstrated their skills before the receptive audiences on the three nights. The program was a prime example of the high level of cooperation at St. Pat's between faculty and students.

Setting the atmosphere for the middle ages were jugglers, minstrels and jesters under the supervision and guidance of Messrs. Zimmerman and Stephenson. The entire program was developed and produced by Chief Director Jack Nelson with the assistance of Ms. Worcester. Messrs. Stephenson, Zimmerman and Lithgow, with each directing at least one segment of the production.

Other faculty members helped in a variety of ways. Messrs. Hayes and Venegoni served as narrators. Miss Hart and Mrs. LaLonde prepared the costumes. Bro. David Pieters helped in preparation of the performing area, while Mr. Wilkens provided special electrical lines to handle the lighting which was facilitated by Mr. Quinn. Jim Duda supervised the lighting. Mike Dolatowski, Joe Wisniewski and Rich Kackowski served as festival entertainers and a variety of other students helped out as ushers.

Drawing one or two scenes from each of the following plays: Macbeth, The Tempest, The Merchant of Venice, Romeo and Juliet, Henry V, The Taming of the Shrew, and A Midsummer Night's Dream, the festival gave insight into the talent of Shakespeare and a variety of ways that he portrayed the many moods of man. To culminate the festival Sunday night's finale had a faculty cast in A Midsummer Night's Dream, which greatly entertained the participants and spectators.

This year's intramural program received a new schedule which enabled more students to participate. The intramural athletes competed during their study periods, a time which gave the homeroom fans an opportunity to cheer on a victory for their homeroom team. The new schedule better suited the entire student body because during last year's program, the games were being played before and after school, which made it difficult for many to participate. Mr. William Sienkiewicz, moderator of this program, refereed the football, basketball, and hockey, the three sports in which the students competed. Several athletes and other students helped referee the games.

Bowling For Fun

The Intramural Bowling, moderated by Max Kurland, took place every Wednesday afternoon at 2:00 p.m. with the facilities being provided by Manor Bowl, located at 3124 N. Central. The Junior-Senior league, which had eight teams and four members on a team, had the highest average bowler, Peter Fontanetta, who averaged 183. The first place team of Dan LaBelle, John Sarli, and Pete and Vic Fontanetta fought their way to the first place spot by recording 49 victories to their name. By being the first place team, they were entitled to receive trophies. Although the other teams didn't receive trophies, they accepted some kind of monetary prize. Mark Schley, Steve Schroeder, Joe Pacion, Tom Philbin, and Mark Wiltord won enough matches to take first place in their division.

Towards the end of the year, a select group of teachers and students knocked heads and took it to the lanes to see who would become the victor. The students walked away that afternoon with smiles on their faces after taking the first two games and only losing the third by a pin. The student's victories were aided by games of 233 by Pete Fontanetta, 222 by Dan LaBelle, and 228 by Vic Fontanetta.

Honoring a Select Group

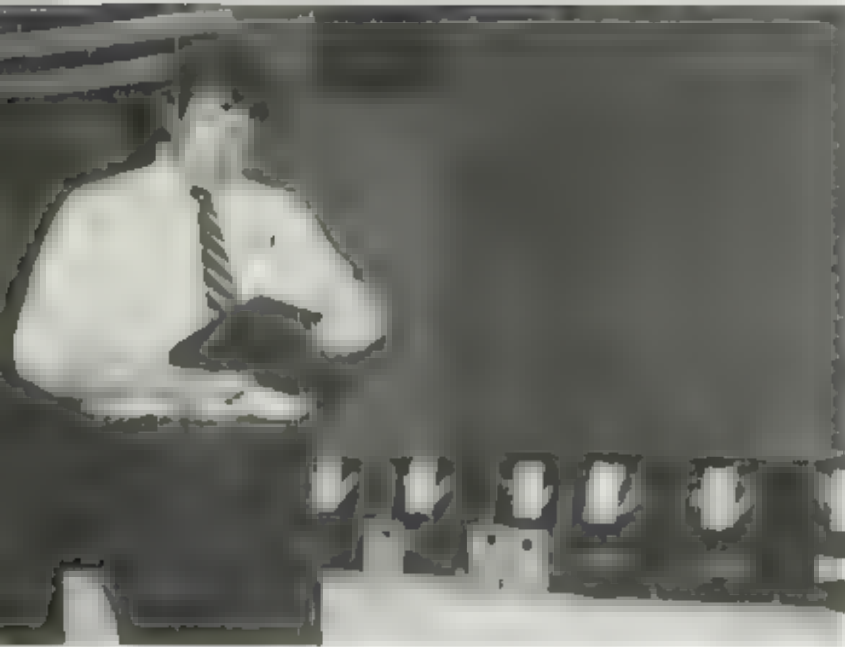

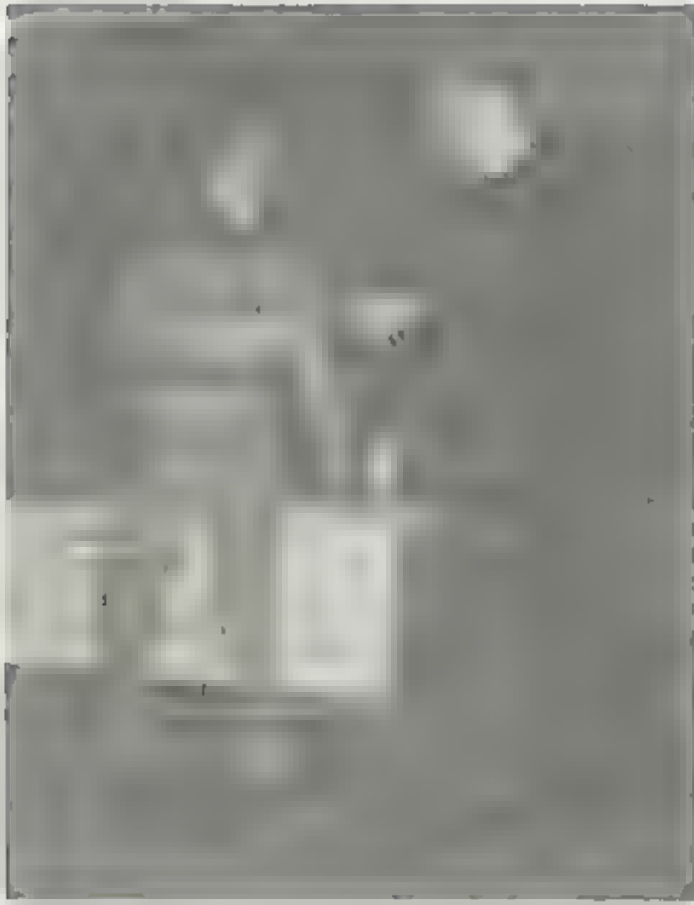

On May 17th, the National Honor Societies held their annual Induction Ceremony. Unlike other years, where the ceremony was held in the Main Lobby on a week night, this year's ceremony was held in the cafeteria on a Sunday afternoon. The large area of the cafeteria better accommodated the parents and guests.

The ceremony began with the processional of the inductees and a short welcoming speech by Mr. Paul Quinn, the moderator of the Honor Societies. President Bill Stanczykiewicz, who conducted the ceremony, explained the four qualities, scholarship, leadership, service, and character, that are required to be selected into the organization. The lighting of candles and the presentation of the NHS/NHS insignia are symbolic of these four necessary qualities. Kevin Caruso, last year's President of the S.P.H.S. NHS addressed and congratulated the gathered inductees and their guests. Bro. Neil Kieffe also added a few words of congratulations to the inductees for being the select group chosen into such an esteemed organization.

Merit Awards are presented to students on the basis of outstanding achievement in one or more of a number of specific categories during a school year. The Merit Award program is sponsored by the National Honor Society and is intended to encourage St. Pat's students to utilize their talents for the school's betterment.

The distribution of awards to those seniors who have shown outstanding achievement in an area of interest has been a long standing tradition at St. Pat's. These awards are presented during a senior awards assembly and re-announced at the graduation ceremony. One of the highest of these recognitions is to be graduated with honors.

For this the student must have maintained a GPA of 4.00 or better through the 2nd semester of his senior year. Another honor that is bestowed on one student each year is the Bausch and Lomb science award. In order to receive this honor a student must be nominated by the faculty because of his outstanding achievement in science courses and his plans to continue in a science-oriented career. The Alumni Association Award winners are also decided upon by the faculty. These are given to students for their work in the areas of Scholarship, Loyalty, Athletics, and participation in extra-curricular activities. Also in conjunction with these are awards which are not based on academic achievement or school dedication. The first of these is the Mark Q. Cummings Award which is presented to an athlete who overcomes personal difficulties and best emulates the spirit of the late Mark Q. Cummings. Secondly the John M. McCormack Memorial Scholarship Award is presented to a student who comes from a middle or lower income family and must pay his own tuition.

Formally Enjoying "Life"

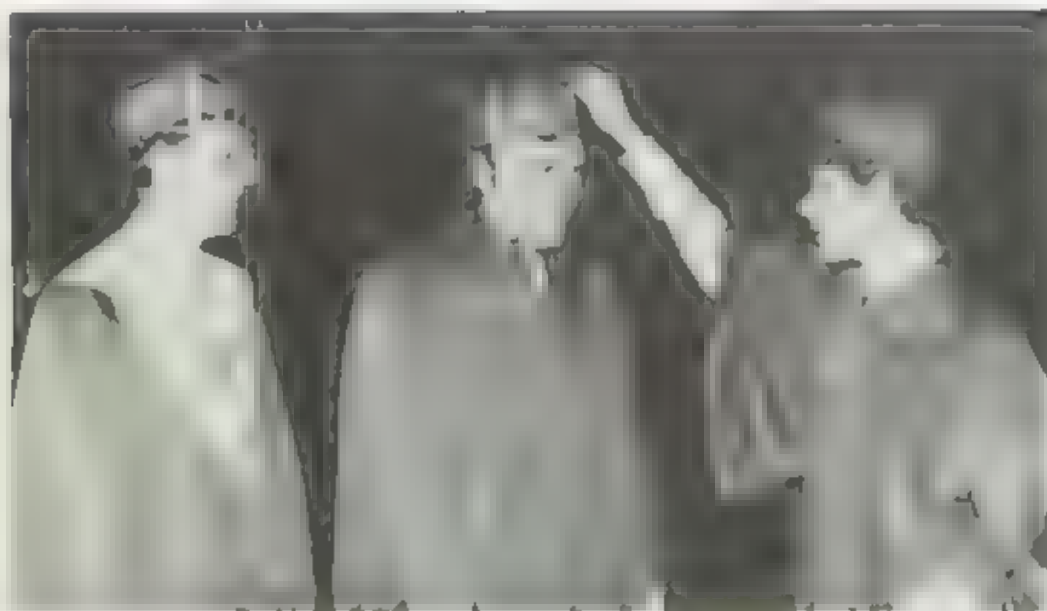

The Senior Prom is one of the most memorable events of any high school student. This year's Senior Prom, which took place on May 9th, was held in the Jimmy Durante Grand Ballroom of the Arlington Park Hilton in Arlington Heights. Over 240 couples dined on fine prime rib and danced to the music of two bands: Kicks and the Dick Eastman Band. The theme of the Prom was "Life," a poem written by Tom Paxton. The success of this formal event should be credited to the Senior Moderators, Rudy Presslak and Jerry Kehoe, the Senior Class President Mel Anderson, and all of the members of the prom committee: Ray Aguilera, Frank Belizzi, Jeff DeLaMar, Tom Ferrara, John Haniacek, Keith Kanak, Bob Kohlndorfer, Joe Kohn, Jeff Koutnik, Barron Lewis, Russ Lucas, Angel Marquis, Mike Miles, Jerry Prete, Mike Rice, Tom Trembley, Matt Vail, and Tim Walsh.

The 120th Commencement Exercises of St. Pat's were held on Sunday, May 24th at Arie Crown Theatre in McCormick Place. The ceremony began with the procession of graduates and faculty, the National Anthem, and the invocation, which was administered by Bro. Kevin. Speeches were made by Mr. Rudy Presslak, who announced the different honors that seniors received, Bro. Neil, whose laryngitis forced him to hand his index cards over to Mr. Kokosinski, Judge John J. Hogan, who spoke for the alumni, and Eric Kindahl, the valedictorian. When their names were individually announced by Mr. Presslak, the graduates made their way across the Arie Crown stage. They received their diplomas and certificates of appreciation from Bro. Neil, were given a New Testament by Bro. Kevin, and left their caps with Bro. Nick and Mr. Jerry Kehoe. In less than an hour and a half, it was over. The Class of '81 had made its last appearance together.

Making It Work

The teams appreciated the much needed help volunteered by student managers. A team manager's job included many responsibilities. The athletes depend upon him to hand out towels and to have water bottles handy. Equipment was collected at the end of each game to be used for the team's next contest. The equipment manager also washed and took care of the uniforms. Other managers, such as the ones on the Swimming and Cross Country teams recorded all of the performance times of the athletes.

From the beginning of the season, the varsity football team had fate against it. Although the team had talent, the setbacks were overpowering. The squad suffered major injuries to key players. Luck was against the Shamrock eleven as the big play did not materialize when needed and, therefore, the gridmen lost several close games.

The squad provided several bright spots throughout the season. The strong passing game of Mike Carpinelli and the tough Shamrock defense gave the fans much excitement. Russ Lucas was named to the All-Conference first team, while Bob Kohndorfer, Don Powrozek and Mickey McGuire were announced to the second team. The squad had many strong juniors who gave much promise for the future.

The 1980 Sophomore team underwent numerous changes and encountered many challenges. Perhaps the most significant change was the coaching staff, which consisted of Tom Mahoney and Mike Egan. The Sophomore squad had quite a challenge to encounter because the entire team was made up of only 25 players. It would have been disastrous if the team had lost any more athletes.

Because of this inflexibility, the team had to settle for a disappointing 2-6 season record. Gene Smith and Pat Gibbons were nominated M.V.P. for their offensive performance, while Pat McInerney earned the award for his defensive guidance. Despite the scores the sophomores showed a tremendous amount of leadership, experience, and teamwork.

Frosh Efforts Go Unrewarded

The frosh gridmen finished the season also with a record of 2-6. The outcome of many of the games was continually close, as they generally lost by no more than one touchdown. The freshman squad recorded overwhelming victories over St. Joseph's and Holy Cross, two of their conference rivals. Sean Lawlor, Bob Glascott, and Kurt Penman were elected most valuable players for their outstanding contributions to the team throughout the season.

A Tough Season Gives Experience

The varsity harriers finished in 5th place in the tough East Suburban Conference. Containing new runners and many juniors the team was not an experienced one. Though a number of invitationals were lost by close margins, the team finished third at the Lakeview Invitational and fifth at the conference meet. The experience gained this year under the leadership of Captain Dan Buckley and Most Valuable Player Jim Lofton bodes well for the future of this young squad.

With many sophomores returning as well as a number of freshmen on the team the frosh-soph runners were loaded with talent. They finished second in the Maine North and the Lakeview invitational. Their conference record was 3-2 and finished in a three way tie for second place. Throughout the season Bob Nevera, Ken Guitre and Ray Clifford ran extremely well, thus leading the team to its fine season record.

Finishing the season with a 7-5 meet record, the varsity tankmen, led by Rick Evans and Marty Gibson and under the supervision of coach Brian Glorioso, enjoyed a very successful season. The Shamrock squad finished 2nd in conference and 7th in district. They also took 1st in the Shamrock Relays and for the 7th consecutive year, they took 1st in the Leo Invitational. Valiant efforts by Dave Sorensen, Dave Kowalyshen, Mike Rocco, Rick Evans and Marty Gibson were largely responsible for the team's overall success.

Frosh-Soph Tankmen Enjoy Season

The Fr-Soph Swim Team enjoyed a very successful season. At the beginning of the year, they jumped to a 4 meet winning streak. The team ended the year in 2nd place with a 7.5 record. The squad also placed 2nd in both the Leo and West Leyden Invitationals. The team was led by Tom Russell and helped by Larry Kunkel, Greg Bodnick, Garrett Fleming, Kevin Kilroy, and Tom Fleishacker. Fleming also set a new Fr-Soph record in the 50 yd freestyle with a time of 23.8. The performance of all the members brought many exciting moments to the fans.

Difficulties Set Team Back

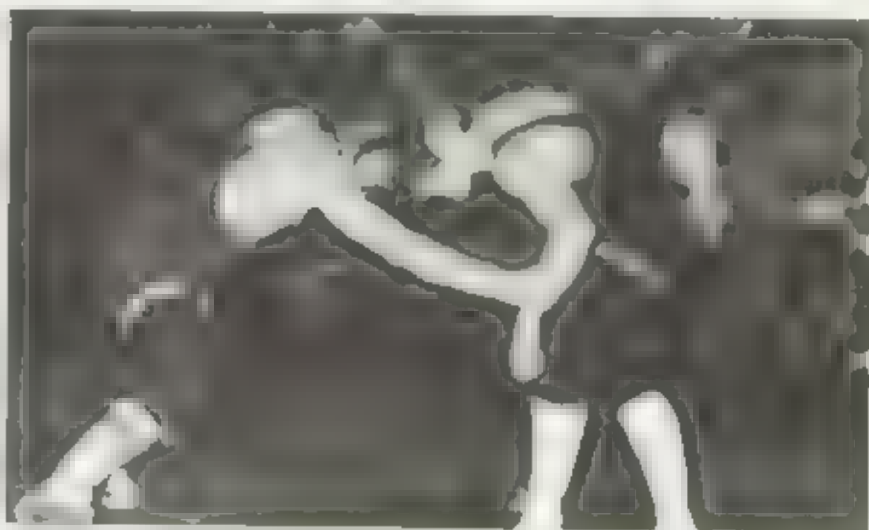

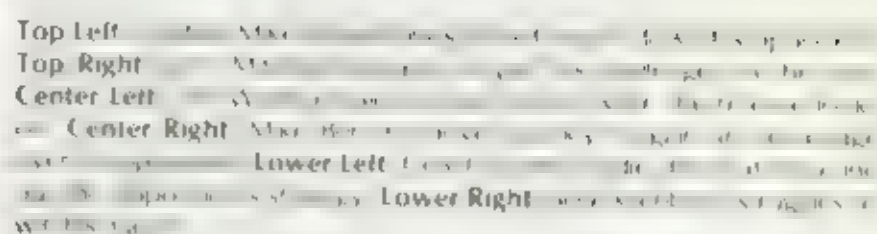

The Varsity Shamrock Wrestlers began the season with several returning lettermen, and therefore the outlook of the season was bright. But soon after the season began many of these experienced athletes left the team for various reasons. Also many injuries were suffered in the course of the season.

Despite the many setbacks, one Shamrock wrestler came through and helped keep the team in contention throughout the season. Mike Bersani, the captain and leader of the team, showed his qualities as a leader by helping to develop the new inexperienced wrestlers. Also in the conference meet he took first place in his weight class. Another wrestler, Joe Fiandaca, finished high in conference and would have received better than his 3rd place, but having received a head injury during the meet he was unable to compete in the final. With these difficulties, the varsity wrestlers finished the season with a 7-13 record and 5th place in conference.

Future Varsity Shows Potential

The Fr-Soph wrestlers looked impressive throughout the season. The freshmen were 5-1 in conference and had a 62% winning ratio throughout the season. The sophomore matmen finished with a 3-3 conference record and were 4th in the conference meet. The freshmen won most of their matches in the conference meet, their season finally came down to one match which they were unable to win, ending their season in 2nd place. Chuck Doyle, Nick Belcaster, Don Cox and Tony Paez finished in first place, with Tony remaining undefeated for the season. Ray Navarro, who earned the sophomore MVP award, and Bob Buffo were 1st place conference finishers for the sophomores.

Shamrock Five Dominate Carbondale

As they have in the past few years, the varsity cagers packed their bags and headed down to Southern Illinois to participate in the Carbondale tournament. St. Patrick was not seeded amongst the top four teams and many felt that St. Pat's would not go past the first round. However, the Shamrocks surprised everybody except themselves.

In the first game against Herrin, Mike Broderick led the team with 19 points and 8 rebounds. Mark Pytel followed with 14 points and Mike Campanaro also set a school record with 9 free throws in the fourth quarter. When the buzzer sounded at the end of the game, St. Pat's found themselves up by 20 points in a 73-53 romp.

Game 2 brought the emergence of Mark Pytel, who dominated the game for the Shamrocks. Scoring 22 points, and stealing the ball 4 times against Marion, a top seeded team at the time, he led the Shamrocks to a 76-54 victory. Against Bartonville-Limestone in game 3, Pytel again dominated, scoring 18 points to lead both teams in scoring for the second consecutive game. Other contributors were Len Bertolini with 15 points and Bob Kohlndorfer with 14 points. In this game, the tough St. Pat's defense held their opponents to 45 points while scoring 59 themselves, thus earning the right to play in the championship against Murphysboro.

In the Championship game, the Shamrock five again dominated their opponent, outscoring them in every quarter and holding them to only 6 points in the third quarter. Mark Pytel again led all players with 19 points, while Gene Kelly and Mike Broderick added 12 apiece. Mark Pytel and Mike Broderick were named to the all tournament team.

“Shamrocks Win 21 in ‘81”

With all five starters on last year's 24-2 varsity team having graduated, this year's team shouldn't have won 20 games, but it did. They won our Thanksgiving Tournament by beating Argo, St. Ignatius, and Westinghouse who later won the Public League championship and took 3rd place downstate. Unseeded, they defeated Marion, Bartonville, Limestone and Murphysboro. The squad built up an eleven game winning streak before losing to St. Joseph, the conference champion. Ending the season with another streak of 6 games, they defeated Marist in the last game, tying them for 2nd place in conference. During the season, Max Kurland notched his 450th career victory, against Murphysboro and the varsity Shamrocks played their 750th game, against Oak Lawn. Averaging 61 points per game while holding their opponents to 52, the team ended the season with a record of 21-4 and by being recognized as "Team of the Week" by 7UP and WLS.

The team began the season by taking 2nd place in our Thanksgiving Tournament, losing to the champion, St. Ignatius. Although they beat Holy Cross twice during the season, they couldn't get over the hurdle many times, losing 10 games by 10 points or less. The starting five were sophomores Gene Smith and Terry Johnson and freshmen Roger Ernst, Bob Nichol, and Keith Bunkenburg. The squad finished 5th in conference, having a record of 10-13. Coach Joe Schmidt's first losing season in his 12 years at the helm. They kept pace in every game except two, and during the season Coach Schmidt posted his 200th victory. Although the team wasn't victorious many times, they provided plenty of excitement to all who saw them.

Frosh Produce Winning Season

The Frosh A Team took the Consolation at the Loyola Tournament and 2nd Place in the Weber Tournament. The team was led throughout the season by Brian Devlin, Lloyd Manning, John Puetz, Joe Johnson and Ed Nash, assisted by Rich Sopek, Jim Henighan, Marty Doherty and Mike McWilliams. They took 3rd Place in the conference, ending the season with a record of 13-12, handing Coach Pete Wilert his first winning season.

The B-Team lost its first game of the season in overtime at LaGrange and then set out to win 10 games in a row, before losing to Gordon Tech by 2 points. They finished the season with a record of 14-2, the pride and joy of Coach Peter Zimmerman. In his first year of coaching at St. Pat's.

Enthusiastically Striving for Par

The Varsity Golf team, coached by Tom Hayes, finished its season with a 1-9 record. With fine playing from the Seniors, J. Kolbus and R. Mackey, the team was able to place fifth in Conference. J. Hart led the team to a sixth place finish in the Districts by shooting a round of 88. Although the team lacked experience and an adequate number of golfers for a more successful season, it did display much enthusiasm.

Determination Improves Record

The Frosh-Soph team ended its season by recording five season victories. Experienced players like Bob and Mike McWilliams helped the team to respectable finishes in both the Conference and District competition. Determination was also a key factor in the Frosh-Soph team's improved record.

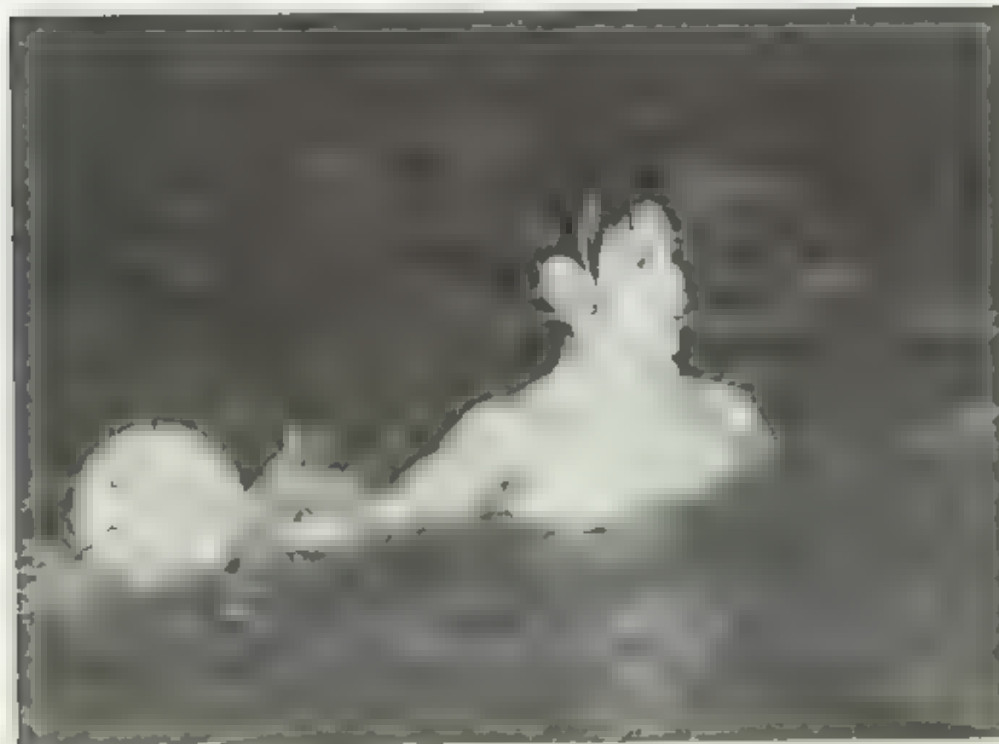

Top Left: M. Boyle's swing is going to be trouble for the opponents. Top Center: T. Efforts Unrewarded Due to Tough Schedule

The St. Patrick Varsity Water Polo Season ended with a misleading record of 5-8. The Shamrocks lost most of their games against many of the top ranked teams in the State. Because of their schedule, they qualified for the State playoffs and earned enough points to finish ninth in the State. Co-captains Dave Johnson and Marty Gibson, along with freshman Dave Lurie consistently kept the team in contention throughout the season. Marty Gibson also earned MVP honors for his efforts.

Hurting Without Experience

The start of the season began with a lack of players to go out for the team. Only ten people came out to participate and one, Dave Lurie, was brought up to the varsity level. With this lack of experience, the Junior Varsity Water Polo team finished with a season record of 3-10. Although they had a poor record, several players performed well during the campaign. The top scorers on the squad were Tom Russell, Paul Roscoe and Bill Donovan. Roscoe, Russell and Larry Kunkle were the most defensive athletes.

Varsity Captures First Regional Title

The beginning of the year brought another baseball season around to St. Pat's. The prediction for the Varsity was not good and no one thought that the team would finish well. However they surprised everyone except themselves. The team finished in a tie for 2nd place, losing the last game to Marist which would have put them in a tie for first place, had they won. The State Playoffs followed and again the Shamrocks surprised everyone except those who had seen them play. They took the Regional Championship by beating Elmwood Park. This was the first time that the team had taken this award.

Participating in the Sectionals, they upset Evanston 5-2 and were within one game of going to the State Finals. When they faced Oak Park, their incredible streak was stopped cold by an extraordinarily talented pitcher. Although the whole team contributed equally, several players were named for their special ability. Mike Carpinelli, Most Valuable Pitcher and Hitter; Dennis White was named Best Defensive Athlete and Gary Blumenthal was Most Improved on the squad. Coaches Demos and Miller also deserve thanks for their efforts to bring out the full potential of all on the team.

Sophomores Well Balanced

The Sophomore baseball team finished with a conference record of 6-6 and overall with a 5-12-2 record. This team was quite talented and well-balanced, and, as a result, Coach Tom Buscarini was able to make substitutions for injured players with confidence. The subs were usually able to fit in quite well and contribute to the play. The highlights of the '81 season included the no-hitter by Pat D'Andrea and Mike Altobelli's one hitter, as well as the upset victory against Marist. Pat D'Andrea ended the season with a 6-1 record and was selected as the MVP by his teammates.

Frosh Enjoy Best Season Ever

Coach Rudy Presslak enjoyed his finest season this year as the freshman squad posted a 2-1 record in conference with a record of 8-4. In a dual series on the team were Keith Bunkenburg, John Puetz, Frank Shamie and Tony Zaffaro. Zaffaro finished the year with a 6-1 record. He also ended the year by allowing only 2 earned runs in 29 innings pitched. He also was a top hitter on the team. Frank Shamie also ended with a 6-1 record. John Puetz, a defensive key at first base, was the squad's best relief pitcher, and contributed greatly with his bat. Throughout the entire year they consistently showed teamwork and leadership.

The 1981 Varsity Track Team finished with a rather victorious year, a six-three conference record and a fourth place in the conference meet. During the season the squad strung a streak of five consecutive meet victories defeating East and West Leyden, Holy Cross, Carmel, and St. Viator.

The main characteristic of the track events was speed. Although the top 100 yd. sprinter, Barron Lewis, was injured in the middle of the season, Bob Placencio took his place and fared very well. Dan Loeger also excelled in the 400 meter run and Junior Jim Lofton, the best long-distance runner, ran several one mile races in under five minutes.

The field events were also strong. Junior John Cronin set the high jump record with a jump of 6'2 1/4" and Kevin Ridge tied the varsity record in the pole vault with a vault of 12'. Mike Biancalana finished well in both the shot put and discus.

In the conference meet, the Shamrock squad finished fourth while John Cronin and Dan Loeger took first place in their events and Mike Biancalana finished second in the shot put.

The Frosh-Soph Track team began the season with much talent, but lacked the experience to make them a top contender. As the season went on, the team improved in all the running events. The freshman produced several quick sprinters, including Bob Wendall, Joe Laluya, Romel Aranas and Sean Lawlor.

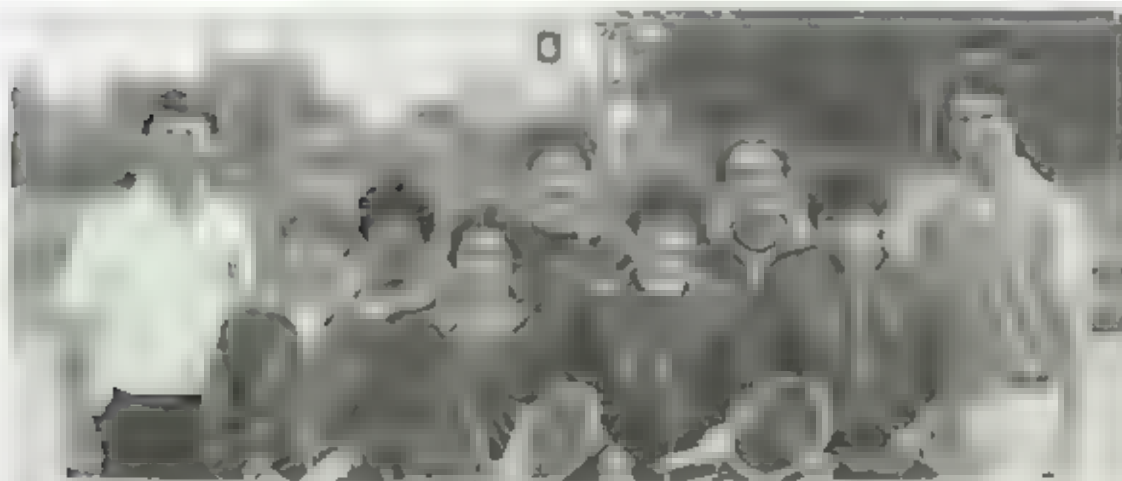

These players along with sophomores Vic Revolinski, Tom

Brady, and Nick Tryfonopolous were nearly unbeaten in Conference. The squad finished 4th in the Conference as well as in the Conference meet. Bob Nevera, the team's top ½ miler, also excelled in the Pole Vault. He captured the frosh-soph record on this event with a jump of 11'3". For his fine performance, he was awarded the Most Valuable Player.

The Shamrocks also took 4th place in the conference tournament with Dave Carsello, Andy Melnyk and John Borelli getting first round victories as did the 2nd doubles team of Bob Reich and John Grendzinski. Dave Carsello was named MVP on the varsity level with a 7-5 record at 3rd singles.

The Frosh-Soph Tennis Men finished in 5th place, also with a 2-4 record. The undermanned squad was led by sophomore John Grendzinski, who earned MVP on the Frosh-Soph team. John also played Varsity.

Joe Schmidt, head coach of the team, and Pete Zimmerman felt that the squad had put out everything they had to offer and they suffered losses in a couple of close matches.

The principle of an executive board of 17 members, 3 from each year and 5 presidential aides, was maintained while the representatives-at-large, now called the Senate, was reduced to twenty members five from each year. The executive board was intended to be the planning and organizing body, while the Senate was to be the support body, carrying information to and from their respective constituents in order to have more student input into school-wide activities. Officers and Senators worked together with the guidance and inspiration of moderators: Bro John Vietoris, Bro Kevin Fitzgerald, and Mr Wm Sienkiewicz.

During the year, the Student Council successfully organized two roller skating parties at Axle Roller Rink, a week of football homecoming activities, including the Semi-Formal and the homecoming parade. It also coordinated a rock concert with the Boyzz, the spirit week for winter sports, as well as several other activities.

Computing Successes

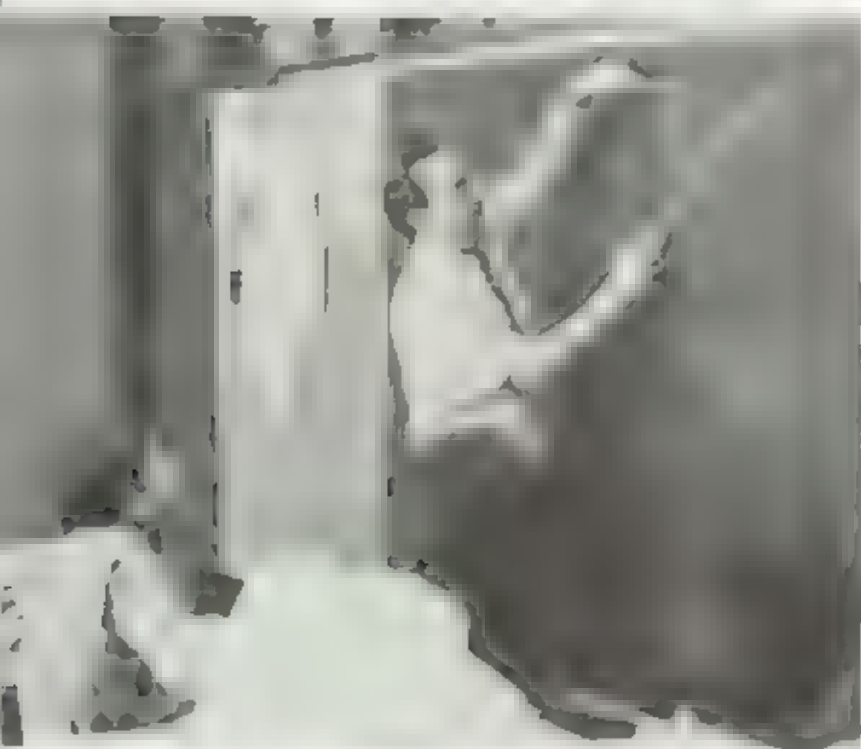

The computer club is composed of students interested in computers. At weekly meetings, the members, under the guidance of Mr. Albert study the various uses of computers and methods of programming. The club entered the New England Computer Science League (NECSL) for the first time. With the knowledge they acquired, the members won first place in the Eastern Continental Division.

Delving Deeper Into Math

The Math Club gives the students an opportunity to enhance their skills in the various areas of math during weekly meetings at which the members learn new formulas and attempt to solve more difficult problems than are normally covered in class. The members use their newly acquired skills in local and national competitions. When competing in the National Math Exam, St. Pat's placed eleventh, the highest Catholic school in the state.

In the Chicago All-Star Math Contest senior Mike Dolatowski was one of thirty-two high school students who won the opportunity to represent Chicago at the University of Maryland during the summer of 1981. The Math team, under the supervision of Mr. Mueller, has also won several other awards for St. Pat's.

Membership in the National Honor Society or the National Junior Honor Society is the highest honor that St. Patrick High School can bestow on any student. Leadership, scholarship, character, and service are the requirements necessary to be accepted into the organization. By awarding membership to only four percent of its students, St. Pat's publicly honors those four necessary qualifications. As members, students make a commitment to continued classroom excellence, leadership, personal growth and development, and a responsibility to serve the school.

Serving Artistic Needs

The St Patrick High School Art Club is a service-oriented organization which involves itself with various activities throughout the year. Some of these activities include the designing of posters and ads for other St. Patrick organizations, such as a promotional poster for the Drama Club's school play. Another major annual project that this organization undertakes is the designing of our school Christmas Card, and the composition of the verse on the inside of the card. The Art Club also sponsors an art contest that is put together only for St. Pat's students. With a little help from the administration, the club gives cash prizes to all the winners of the contest. The final major project that the club attempted was the fabrication of an altar cloth for the religion department. This altar cloth, which will be used for major masses held during the school year, was designed by Freshman Tom Fitzpatrick.

The Photo Club's weekly meetings are a three part, 18 week course, taught by Br. John Blease. Students interested in photography learned first about the camera the way it is built, and how it works. Upon completion of this part of the class, the students receive membership in the Young Photographers' League sponsored by Kodak. The 2nd section of the course teaches the members the uses of the darkroom. This course is concluded by the demonstration of the proper skills and techniques used in taking pictures. With this knowledge they photograph the different school events and activities for publicity, the newspaper, and the yearbook, under the supervision of Br. John and Senior chief photographer Steve Flaherty.

Broadcasting a Good Image

The T V club, a service organization, aides the school by operating the closed-circuit T V system. Besides videotaping all basketball games and home wrestling meets under the supervision of Mr. Quinn, they also control the closed-circuit broadcasts throughout the school day. During weekly meetings, the T V club improves and expands the closed-circuit television system, repairs the studio equipment as well as recording various classroom materials.

The Medical Careers Club, moderated by Mr. Bert Welker, informed students of career opportunities in the medical field. Meetings included a guest speaker, generally a professional or graduate student, who informed students of the actual work involved in his or her occupation. Through a variety of these speakers, the students were able to see what different medical professions involve.

The MCC also sponsored the St. Pat's annual Blood Drive. For the first time ever, the club held a blood rally in the gym where juniors and seniors registered to donate blood. Because of this rally and the recruitment of donors during the homeroom periods, the members of the club managed to register over 300 people as potential donors. As a result, St. Pat's had the best Blood Drive ever.

Se Habla Español

The St. Patrick Chapter of the Spanish Honor Society was formed to increase the interest of the students studying Spanish. This goal was accomplished through the use of field trips to various places dealing with Spanish. Along with this they tutor students needing help in Spanish, and send out for Spanish food during the homeroom period. These activities attempted to familiarize the members with the different aspects of the Spanish culture. The Honor Society was moderated by Br. Patrick O'Neil.

The language clubs were formed to acquaint the members with the various cultures and societies. This was accomplished with a Christmas party featuring ethnic foods and specialties, field trips to movies and restaurants where they acquired a first hand experience of the different cultures. Along with this they organized a successful trip to Great America and a gym night.

The Green and Gold staff worked diligently during the '81 school year to bring out issues of quality and respectability. The staff approached this goal with a positive attitude and an optimistic outlook. They furthered this attempt with more and better features, sports coverage, pictures and cartoons. They successfully completed the year, having published two twelve page issues as well as 7 other average-sized issues. Much of the credit is due to Editor-in-Chief Bill Stanczykiewicz who, under the supervision of Mr. Easton, organized and directed this publication's new direction.

Conflict on the Boards

By meeting almost every day, the Chess Club enjoyed another successful year. Two of the members Matt Vail and Joe Wisniewski, participated in a tournament at Bradley Bourbonnais Community High School where they both received special awards from the Illinois High School Coaches Ass'n. In the Fall competition, the team placed 2nd, and in the IHS A Tournament, they finished in 28th place, which was 14 places ahead of Fenwick, the Conference champions.

Harmonizing Through

The Concert Chorus, St. Pat's largest non-athletic activity, was under the direction of Bro. Ralph Heppe and rehearsed during zero period thrice weekly and on several Sundays. The Chorus gave students the opportunity to learn to read music and become acquainted with the differing types of music. These newly acquired skills were presented in various concerts during the year.

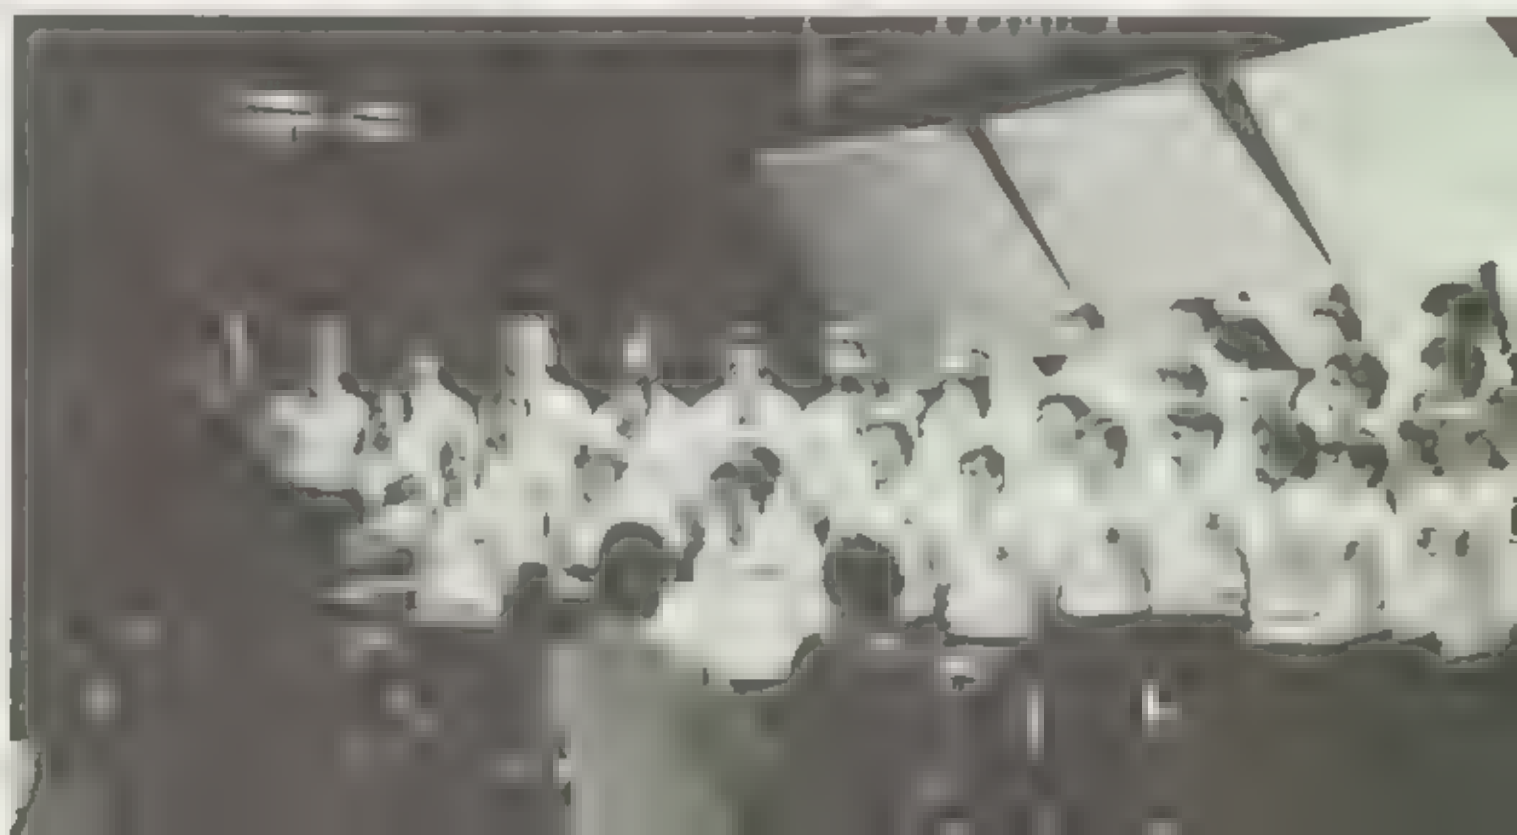

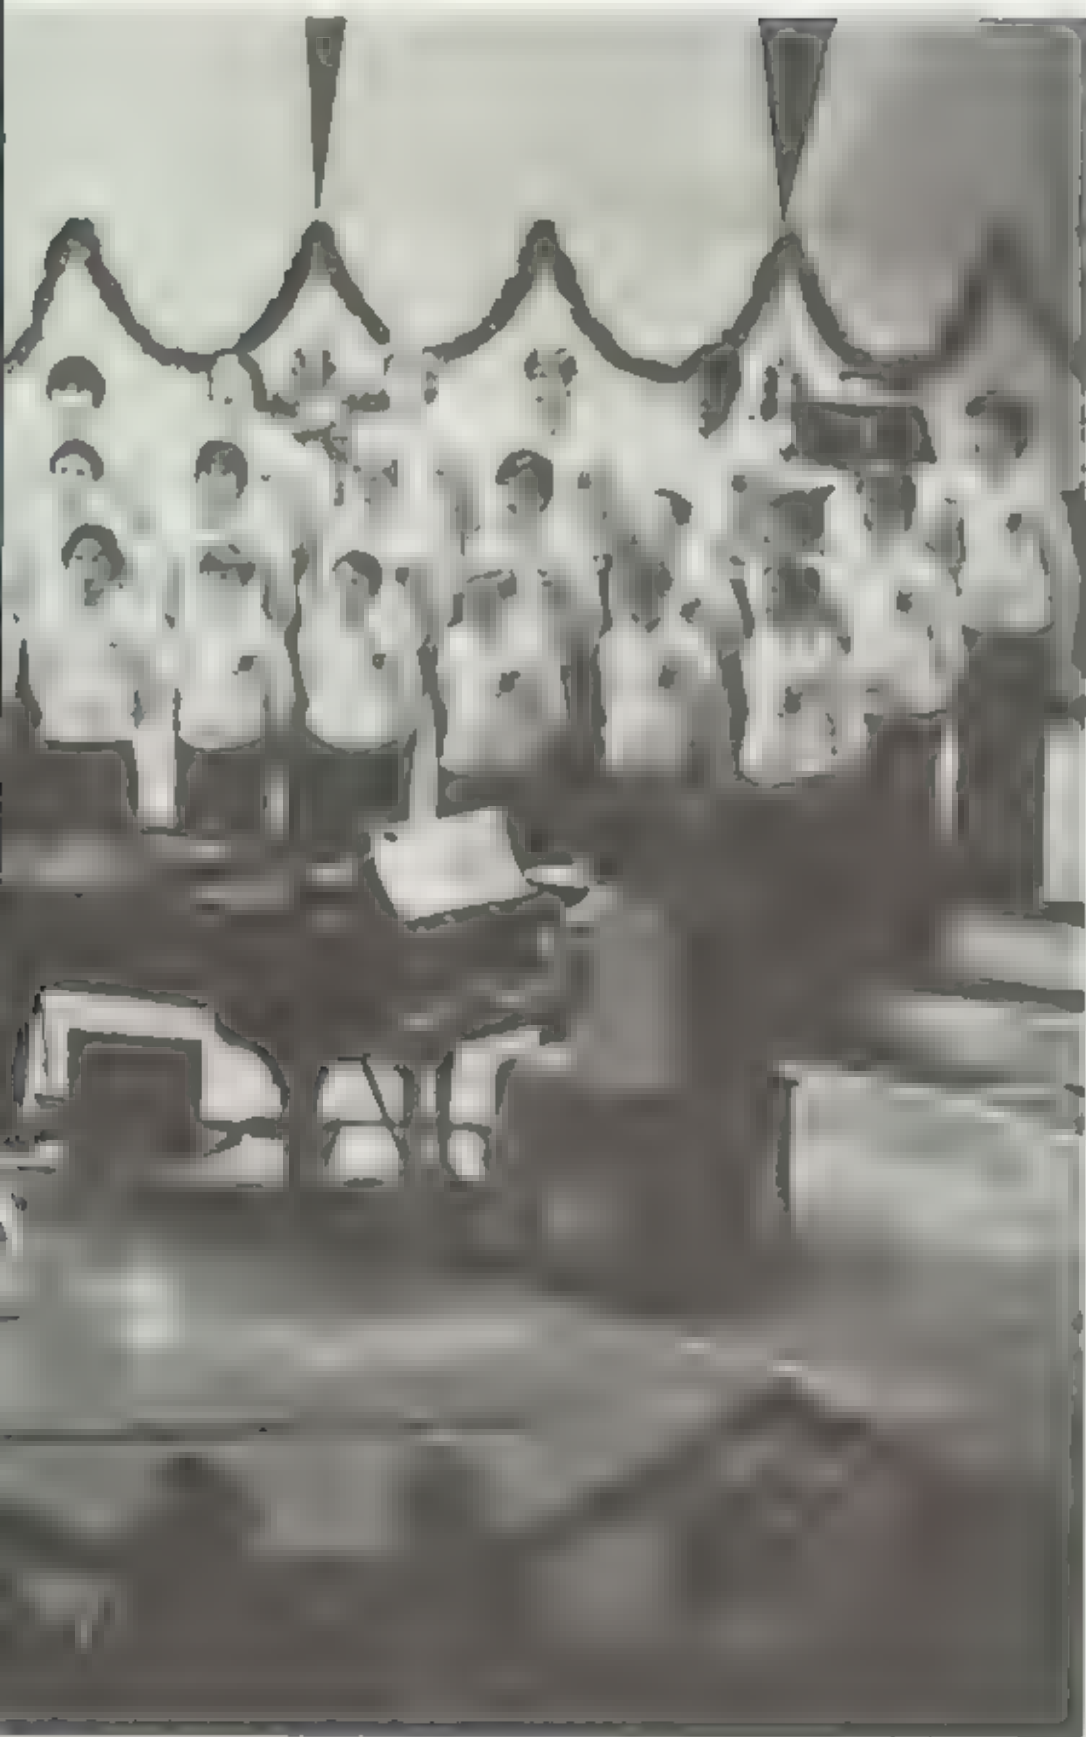

The Chorus' first semester activities included performances at the two 8th grade Open Houses, and a one day tour to Madonna H.S. and the Woodfield Shopping Center. They finished the semester with the Christmas Concert held at Wright Junior College with the Junior-Senior Glee Club of Madonna H.S. as guests (see page 17).

The second semester schedule began with concerts at St. Constance and Mother of Sorrows in Blue Island. In preparation for the Spring Concert with the Madonna Glee Club (see page 27), a mini-concert was presented to the St. Pat's student body. The second semester ended with a concert at Madonna and a performance at the Woodfield Shopping Center.

Troupe 1279 of the International Thespians Society, sponsored by Mr. Jack Nelson and Ms. Faith Worcester, enjoyed a successful year, its second at St. Pat's. The troupe presented a tall play (pg. 12) which enabled 10 young actors to earn enough points to be inducted as members, since a student needs 10 points (100 hours) of service to be admitted. Another event which the society sponsored was the Renaissance Festival (pg. 28 and 29) in the spring, in which about 50 people participated.

Adding Color and Spirit

The cheerleaders are students from neighboring girls schools. After months of practice, they made their first appearance at the Shamrock's opening game and cheered at all of the following football games. At the conclusion of the season, the cheerleaders moved from the football field to the basketball court where they accompanied our team every game. Along with this, they marched in the Homecoming Parade and escorted the school's float in the St. Patrick's Day Parade. Moderated by Bro. Richard Brady, the girls added a bit of color and spirit to our athletic events.

The Parents' Club is St. Patrick's largest support organization. The club raises necessary funds through a number of events: Tuesday Night Bingo, Corned Beef and Cabbage Dinner, Las Vegas Nights, and the St. Valentine's Day Party. Most of the money goes back into school needs and reduced tuition. Other money goes into the Parents' Club Assurance Program where if the breadwinner in the family dies, the Parents' Club will pay the tuition of that student's remaining years at St. Pat's. The club hosts other events, such as the incoming freshman mother-son breakfast and parent tours, and several receptions in the cafeteria. By bringing together parents through meetings and various events, the club allows parents to participate in discussions and socialize among themselves as well as share in St. Pat's efforts in educating their sons.

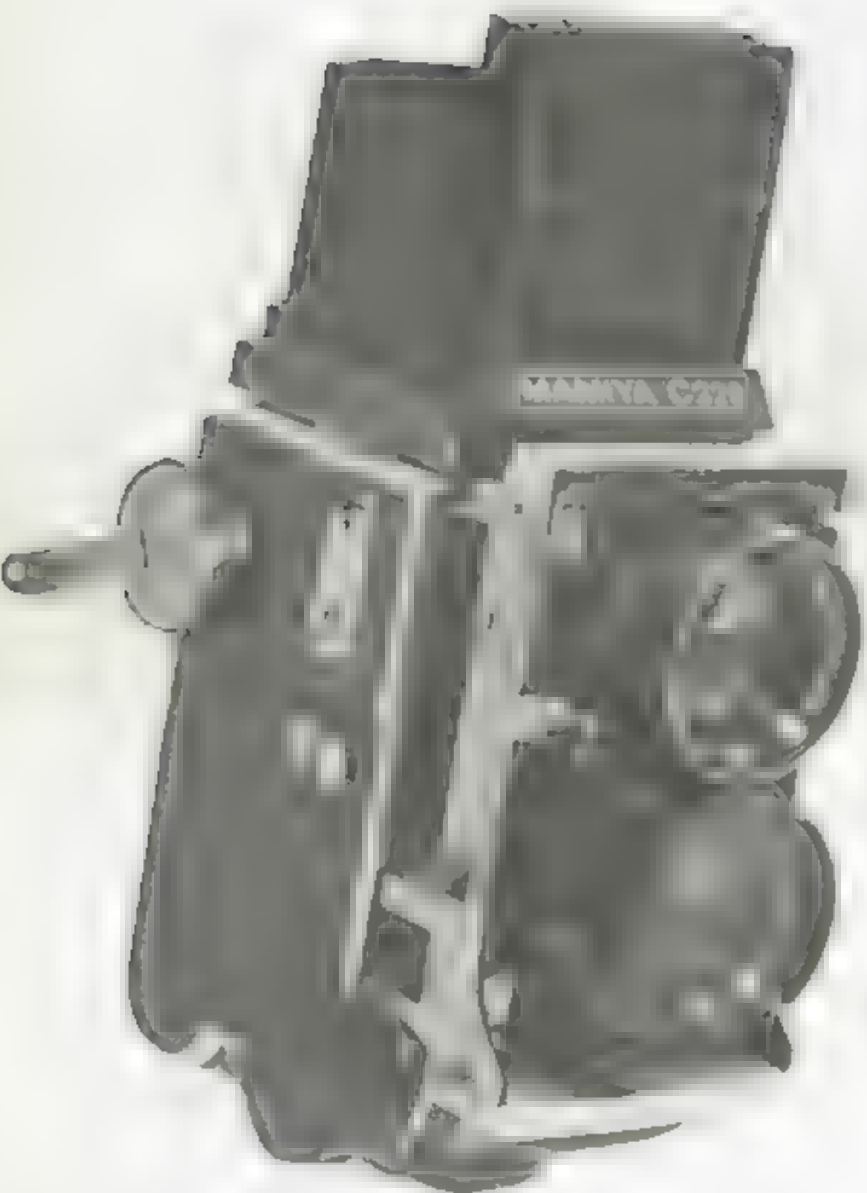

The job of the yearbook staff is to put together the pictorial history book you are presently holding in your hands. The staff and advisors layout the book in sections and decide what will be included in those sections. Through reporting, working with photographs, and writing articles, the members of the staff recall the events, honors, and spirits of an entire school year for the reader. The general production of the book was guided by Mr. James Lithgow and the photographic content was supervised by Bro. John L. Blease, FSC.

Coordinating Operations

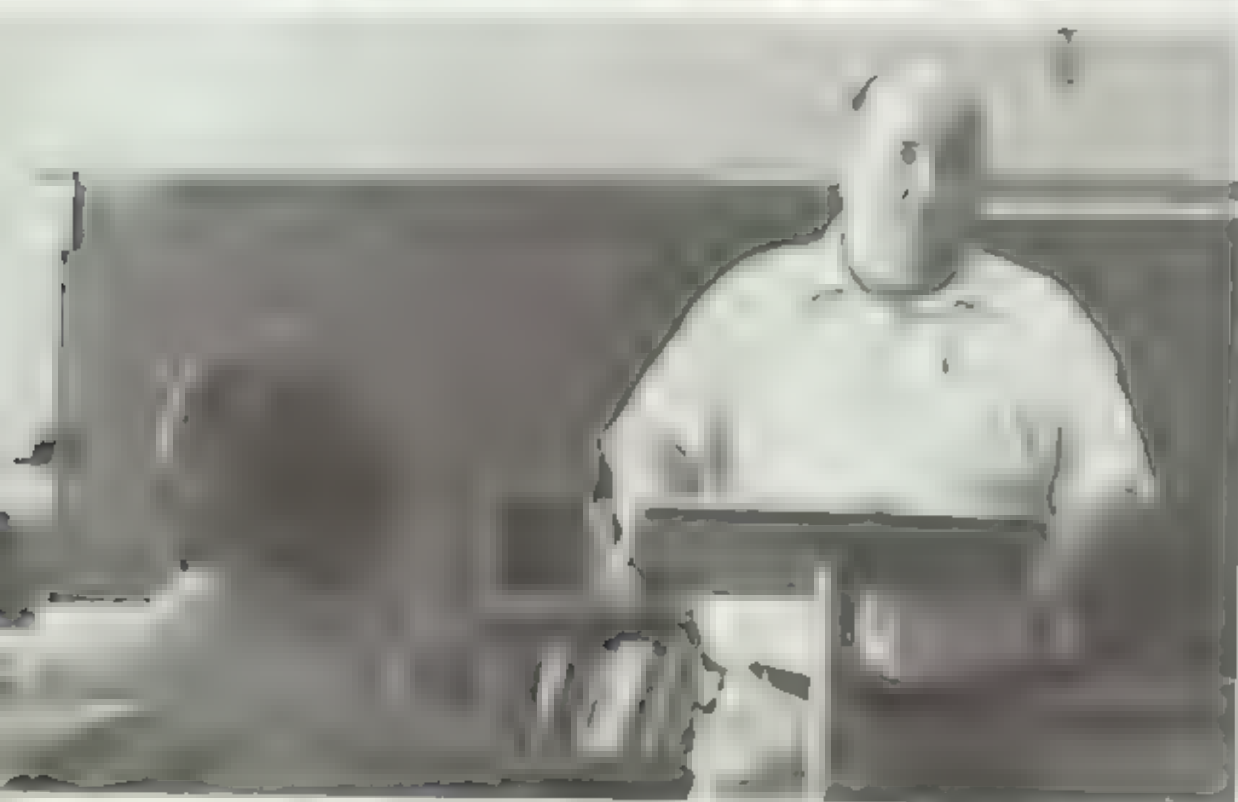

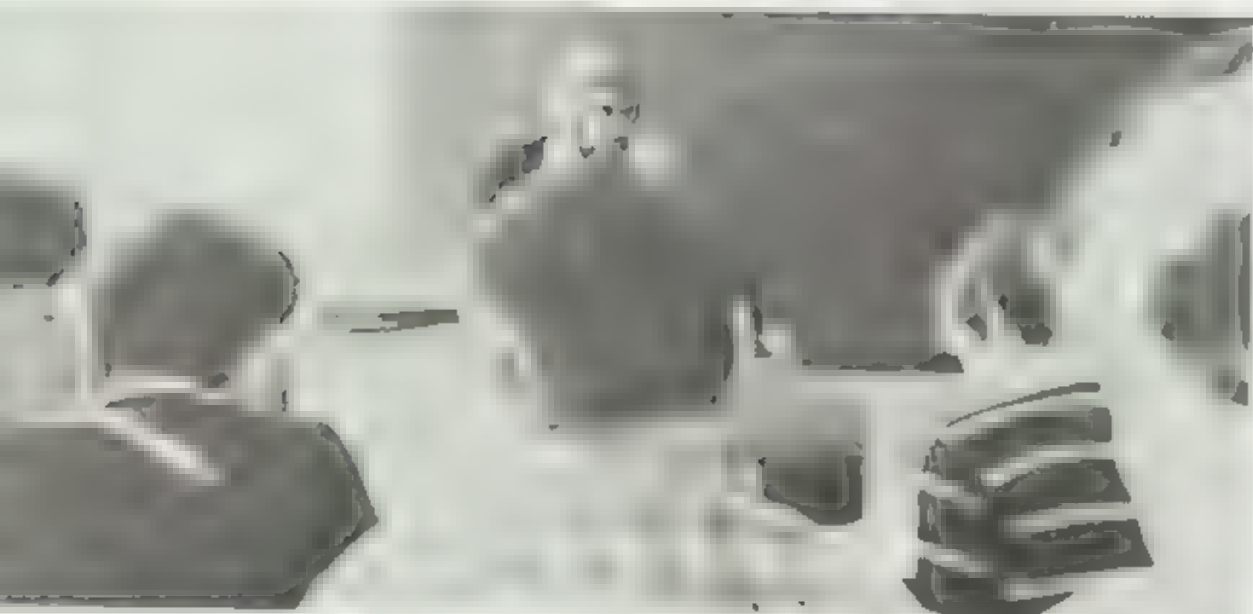

Our administration includes highly qualified personnel which helped our school operate efficiently. Functioning as the nerve center, it coordinated all activities and assured the attainment of the proximate and ultimate goals of education. Ass't. Principal Mr. Kokosinski, known to all and sundry as "Mr. K.," was the general faculty link to daily operation. Students received help from the administration, such as guidance in courses through the Curriculum Director, Mr. Charles Schmidt. Mr. Joe Schmidt and Mr. Tom Buscanni were also the student connection to the faculty and administration, while Bro. Neil, Superintendent, was responsible for the decisions that implemented all educational and developmental processes

The English Department is committed to preparing the young men of St. Pat's for lives filled with rich language experiences. Speaking, writing, reading are the territory of the English teachers. Stressing the mechanics of grammar, writing and reading during the freshman and sophomore years, the department attempted to prepare the juniors and seniors to appreciate somewhat sophisticated communication approaches, always with an eye to the student's individual uniqueness. Literature, particularly American and British as well as worthy writing from other lands, permeated the four year program. Finally, always conscious that St. Pat's is a Roman Catholic institution, the English Department accepted its unique potential for strengthening and clarifying Christian principles through class discussion and analysis of literature.

Through a variety of teaching methods and courses the Social Studies Department attempted to convey to the student an understanding of the individual's role in all aspects. By studying the effects of differing political views and by developing the ability to think critically the wide variety of courses attempted to enable the student to become aware of social justice and to understand his responsibilities as a citizen in a democratic society.

The World Cultures course opened the freshman mind to the differing civilizations of the world and their relationships and contributions to the advancement of mankind. The more advanced courses of Government and American History gave the elder students an insight into the effect that the individual can have on his government and society.

The general aim of the mathematics curriculum was to provide each student with the opportunity to acquire and develop mathematical skills commensurate with his ability. These included basic areas necessary for everyday life in our modern society, as well as topics which are fundamental for studies in a wide variety of disciplines at the college level and other technical areas. The courses covered the traditional areas of high school algebra, geometry and advanced topics from a modern viewpoint, along with introductions to other areas, such as computer science.

The general aim of the computer science curriculum is to provide the student with the opportunity to acquire computer programming skills. Since computers have become more frequently used in today's society, students are made aware of the state of the art and its future and are introduced to BASIC or FORTRAN as a computer language. A working knowledge of this language allowed the student to solve many types of problems. Those in the course received hands on experience with the computer.

The objectives of the Department of Foreign Languages are to encourage students to become actively involved in learning to speak and understand a foreign language, as well as to learn about and appreciate the cultures of other peoples. This was done not only in the ordinary classroom situations, but also by the use of other suitable means. The use of foreign language newspapers, magazines, word games for vocabulary building add variety to the daily language structure, while a stress on the cultural aspects of the heritage of the people being studied developed a better understanding of the elements that helped form the language.

The Department of Foreign Languages offered four year sequences in French, German and Spanish. Placement into the language classes depended on the results of the freshman placement battery, and the student's personal choice. Courses were taught at a rate appropriate to the student's ability. This year, the department incorporated the use of the apple computer in running language drills in order to vary the means of developing the language skills.

Although most students are not intending on entering the scientific field, all are required to take a biology course during their sophomore year. Through a variety of different labs, students learned more about the environment they live in as well as the make-up of the human body. For those students who were interested in science, further courses, such as chemistry, physics, and advanced biology, were offered. These courses attempted to encourage the scientifically inclined students to pursue their talents in a particular field. Since science plays a major role in today's complex and ever-changing world, the science department decided to update its honors program on the junior and senior level. For the juniors, honors chemistry was offered. Unlike the regular chemistry classes, the honors group had to conduct more labs and learn how to use more sophisticated equipment. The honors physics course for the seniors involved more complicated math than the average course.

The Business Department is aimed at preparing its students to take advantage of opportunity when it arises. Also, the department acquaints its students with general knowledge which would be useful in college, the services or an immediate job upon graduation.

1980-1981 was not a year for many innovations for the business department. It was a year that the department built upon innovations of the last several years. The Business Careers course went back to the extensive use of career counselors and professional representation of a wide variety of past high concerns in industry, banking, education, and business. These speakers appeared on an average of once per week. The department employed the use of electrical machines in typing classes for the first time in seven years.

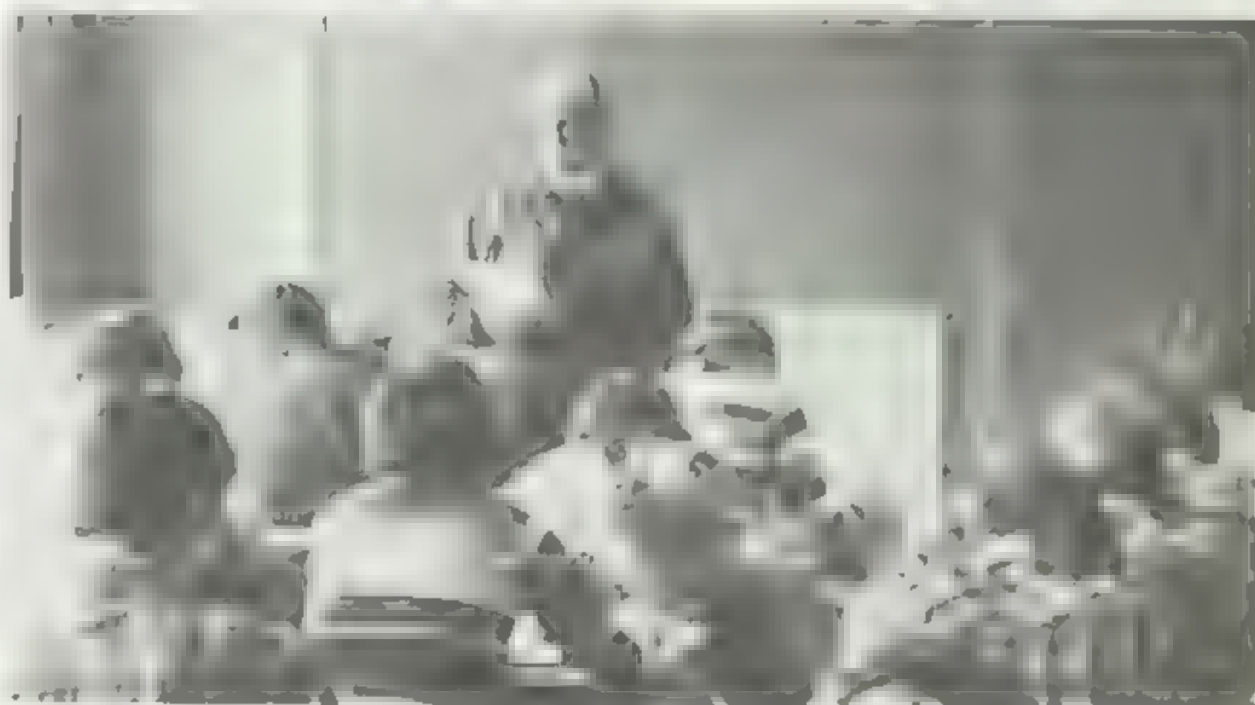

The Business Department employed a wide variety of teaching techniques. Some classes — Accounting, Practical Record Keeping, and Typing — were traditionally taught with much drill work and heavy use of the black board while others used much dialogue between teacher and class and many had lectures with a lot of note taking.

Placing a high value on the development of the student as a child of God searching for self-understanding, the Religious Education Department attempted to help in the formation of the educated Christian who understood his Catholic faith and traditions. Requiring self-discipline and serious study, the various courses challenged students to be reflective, self-disciplined individuals with a firm grasp of the meaning of their Catholic heritage. Attempting to raise the student's understanding through courses that presented solid academic content, the department also presented the opportunity to experience the faith life of the Catholic in various sacramental experiences and a four year retreat program. In addition, last year the department also incorporated Vocation Awareness Week, in order to increase the student awareness and understanding of the call to be a Christian.

Maintaining Physical Fitness

Physical education was more than just a course where students were given a chance to blow off steam. More than just a program for maintaining physical fitness, it developed physical skills in the playing of games for recreation and taught sportsmanship and teamwork through participation in team sports. The Physical Education department incorporated soccer as a sport in this year's program because of increasing popularity.

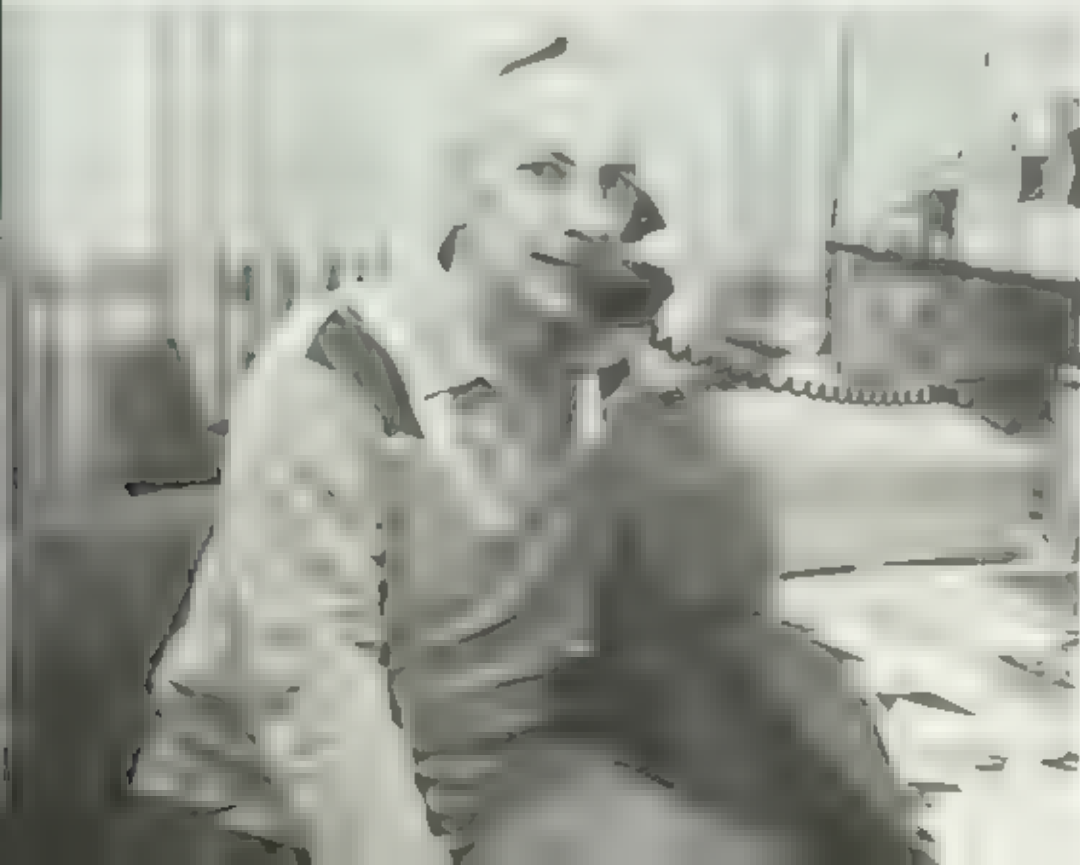

Instead of the Mannes, the coaching staff conducted the physical fitness testing and discipline was the number one aim of the department. Another aim was the student's physical development which helped his academic outlook.

Serving Student Needs

Our Student Services provided a full range of services to help students make optimum use of the school's academic program. The staff of the center consisted of counselors, who provided confidential services which included help with problems such as inadequate motivations, classroom or test difficulties, and career and college counseling. Students were able to avail of student services by signing up for an appointment before school or after lunch. In addition Mr. Presslak met with freshmen at least twice this year in group counseling sessions and Bro. George counseled the seniors on college plans. As well as counseling juniors, Bro. David Pieters took care of publicity and Mr. Kurland counseled sophomores as well as organizing the missions every week.

Building a Cultural Appreciation

Through the use of visual and oral communications, students learned to use the tools of the artist and designer professions to express himself clearly. An appreciation of art was developed as students studied

Many students enjoyed singing in the Concert Chorus. This course was designed to build an appreciation of music through experience by means of the concerts that were presented during the year

Fine Art courses taught better use of communication devices of the artistic world. A variety of cultural material, ancient and contemporary, was presented

The fundamentals of Technical Drawing were offered to Freshman and Sophomore classes. The basics of lettering, measuring, duplication, and orthographic drawing taught during the first two years were covered more thoroughly during the Junior year. The subjects of dimensions, sections, and auxiliary views continued the Technical Drawing art on to the Junior and Senior levels

Keeping Track of Business

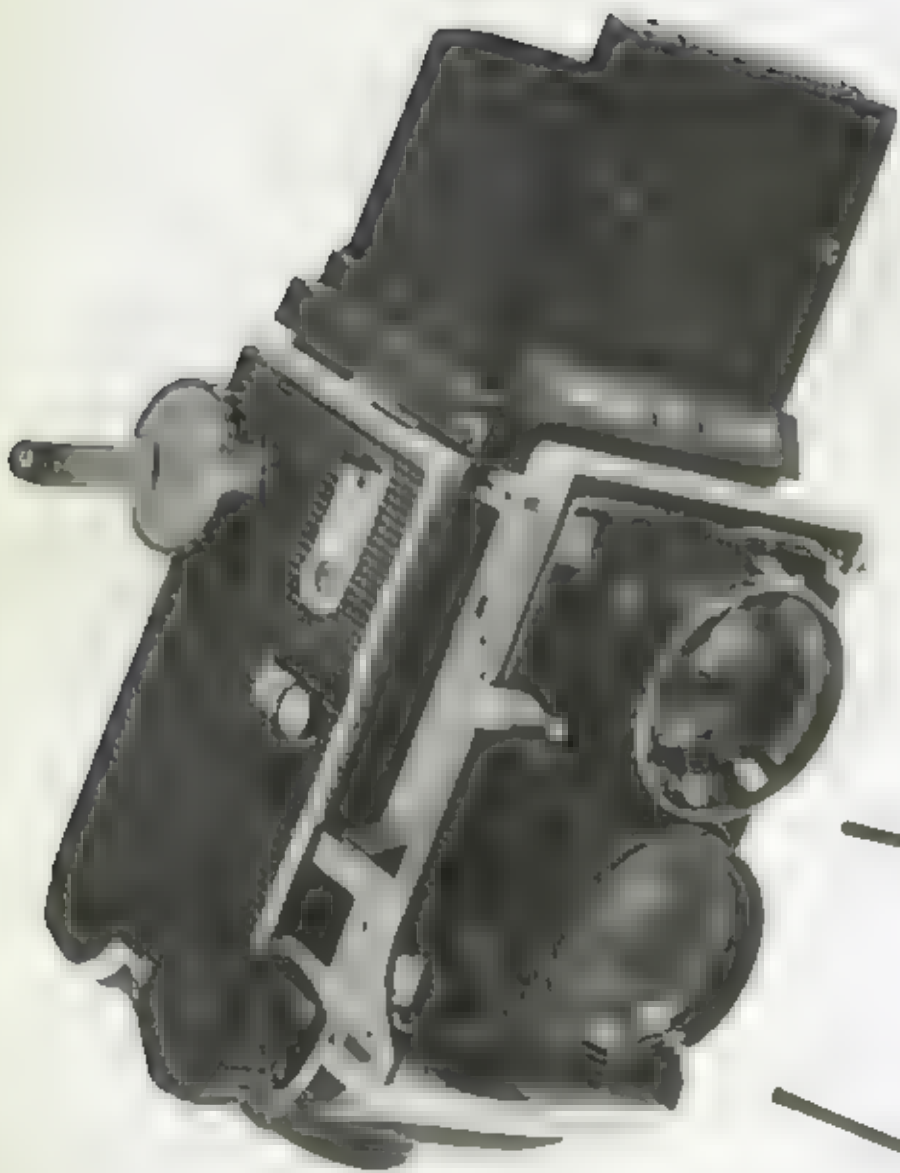

Mrs. Grace Catalano, our school receptionist, starts her busy schedule promptly at 8:00 a.m. every morning. She begins by answering phone calls from the parents of the students who will not be able to attend school that morning and she also takes the teacher's messages for them. Mrs. Catalano is also visited for tardy passes after the start of second period. Mrs. Gladys Majewski, a secretary, performs such duties as filing and typing. Mrs. Mary Mulroe and Mrs. Dorothy Norris, the business office attendants, are responsible for the school's business, like the students' tuition payable to the school. Another person who falls into this category is Mrs. Carol Carter, the school librarian. She and Bro. Joel take care of checking the books in and out of the library.

The First Step . . .

Due to the efforts of Bro. David Galinski's recruitment program, approximately three hundred ninety eighth graders sat for the entrance examination on January 10th. Organized by Bro. Patrick, the exam, which was administered over the PA system, began at 8:30 and ended at noon. With about 30 students in each room, some twenty-five faculty volunteers were involved with the actual supervision and organization. Taking this first step towards admission to Saint Pat's, the young students answered a variety of questions pertaining to math, English, reading and vocabulary.

A hopeful applicant ponders the response to a question on the entrance examination.

Publicity Pays Off

Left: Bro. Richard guides 8th graders and their families through our athletic facilities. Above: Bro. David Pieters explains a science department display to prospective freshman Dan Burke.

On November 19th and December 7th, St. Pat's opened its doors to prospective freshmen and their families. Due to the organization of the recruitment program by Bro. David Galinski, in excess of 600 people attended these sessions which presented the philosophy and general atmosphere of the school. These open houses also organized by Bro. David Galinski, consisted of presentations by the administration, various departments and activities as well as guided tours by members of the faculty and informal discussions with refreshments afterwards in the cafeteria.

Providing Necessary Materials

One of the many services provided at St. Pat's, the bookstore, opens every morning before school through first period. Operated by Bro. George Fowley and Michael O'zanic, the bookstore's busiest season is in August, during the four booksale days, when a number of faculty members help out with the sales. For this occasion the Art Room is temporarily converted to a stock room to store the thousands of books that are sold to the students. Not only books can be purchased, but also school supplies, jackets, sweaters, gym clothes and other paraphernalia.

Freshman Wally O'Connor purchases an algebra book from Bro. George Fowley.

First Vote

Freshman elections for Student Council representation were held in January in order to allow the freshmen adequate time to become acquainted with their fellow classmates. This change in procedure permitted a selection of students who would best represent the needs of the freshman class. The elections were held in three stages starting with the primary for unit chairmen. In the second poll, Luis Hernandez, Peter Kakridas and Tony Paez were elected chairmen, representing Units 1, 2, and 3 respectively. In the third and final voting, five senators were elected: Richard Doyle for Unit 1, Dan Hernandez and Jerry Koutnik for Unit 2, and Ron Barnece and Dan O'Rourke for Unit 3.

Assisted by Student Council workers, Jim Burke and Tom Brady, freshman Kevin Flaherty casts his first vote in high school.

Getting Started

Whoever said that you must take one step backwards in order to take two steps forward must have been a freshman. Graduating from eighth grade to first year of high school was like taking a large step backward, or so it seemed at the time. Being the youngest and most inexperienced students in the school, one had the opportunity to buy elevator passes, tickets to the lunch room, and other specials from the upperclassmen. Despite all this, the young student still had the opportunity to begin advancing forward.

Freshmen were given more chances to choose their own courses and more extra-curricular activities than in eighth grade. Even though it seemed difficult to get started, it was worth the effort, because the freshmen had an excellent chance to grow and to develop their minds and bodies in the St. Pat's tradition.

Freshmen Bob Burke and George Gottmann help out the counselors by assembling information packets regarding Law Enforcement Day.

Helping Out the Parents' Club

Every Tuesday, a different freshman or sophomore seventh period class had the responsibility of setting up the gym for Bingo that night. First, the tarps were spread to protect the floor and securely taped together. Then, tables and chairs were neatly set up to accommodate the Bingo players. Each junior or senior first period class was responsible for Bingo clean-up at least one Wednesday morning of the year. The chairs are neatly put on racks, and the tables are laid on long carts, while the tarps are disassembled, folded, and stored away. Within no time, the Bingo facility is converted once again into a normal gym. By helping out in this way, the students had the opportunity to aid the Parents' Club in its efforts to raise funds that ultimately will help in keeping the tuition as low as possible.

Members of Mr. Horan's seventh period English class efficiently set up the gym to accommodate the Bingo players.

Improving Speed and Comprehension

Early in the year, the freshmen in Units 2 and 3 participated in the Reading Concepts program. Designed to improve their reading speed and comprehension, the program occupied approximately 10 weeks of class time. Under the tutelage of Messrs. Horan and Lithgow, this special offering took place during the normal English class periods. The program which has lasted 12 years was coordinated by Mr. Quinn, who arranged the actual broadcasts of the taped program and tabulated the testing results.

Members of Mr. Lithgow's English class attempt to maintain a constant rate of speed guided by the signals from the videotape.

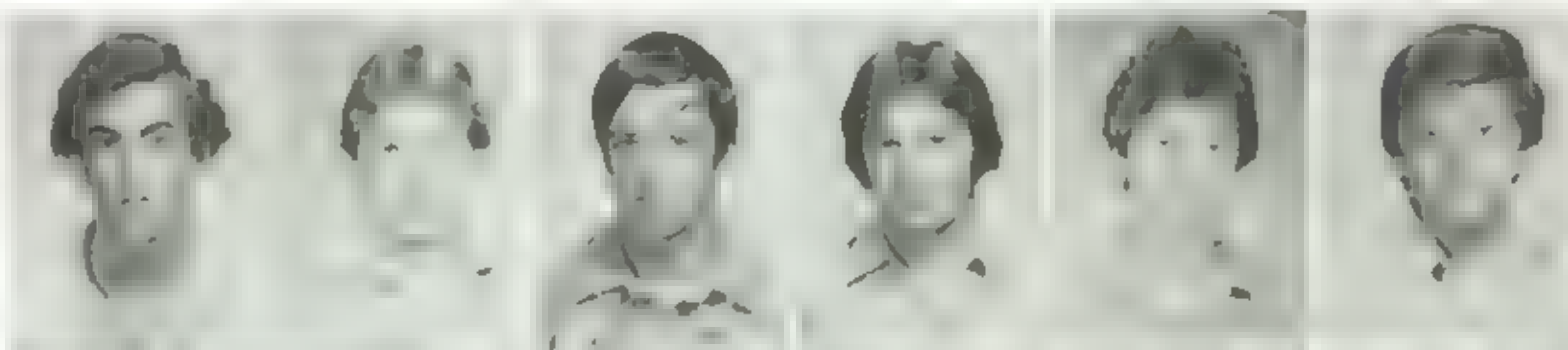

Learning the Rules of the Road

In the State of Illinois, it is required that any student under 18 years of age must attend 30 hours of Driver's Education classes before obtaining his permit. Although St. Pat's does not provide the actual driving facilities, it does provide students with a Driver's Education course, taught by Mr. Olsen from Roosevelt High School. This course was taught, to students 15 years of age and up every day at 2:30 in Room 205. Mr. Kurland, the sophomore counselor, arranged the eight groups that took the course and determined the schedule they would have. Upon successful completion of the course, a student was allowed to go to range and traffic, acquire his blue slip and ultimately receive his license.

Mr. Olsen from Roosevelt High School assigns the class questions from the Rules of the Road.

Service With a Smile

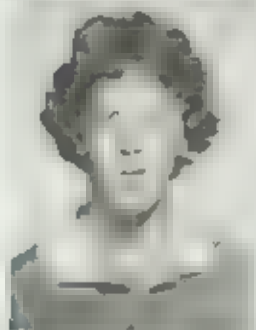

Mr. Tom Buscarini manned the combined attendance office and the Lost and Found. Daily he checked in those students who had been absent and requested the necessary student identification card and explanatory note. Always happy to dispense a tardy slip to those who failed to arrive on time, he also gladly entered them on the next morning's detention list. In addition to processing the above paperwork, Mr. Buscarini also acted as custodian of all lost materials until they were redeemed by their owners.

Mr. Buscarini processes the absentee note of sophomore John Medina.

Operation Cleanup

With this year's schedule change came the need for a more efficient method for cleaning the cafeteria. Each homeroom is responsible for cleaning the cafeteria one day each week after their year's lunch period. Instituted to help a student develop a concern for St. Pat's and each other, as well as helping to form a spirit of self discipline and cleanliness. As a result, each day near the end of each lunch period, students were seen efficiently restoring a sense of order with the guidance and support of faculty supervisors.

Senior Tim Dunlevy quickly cleans his assigned table in order to arrive at his fifth period class.

A Year of Preparation

Junior year brings with it a number of new experiences. Offered an opportunity to participate in an honors program for the first time in their high school careers, the juniors also received their class rings and attended their first prom. All juniors attended a 2 day retreat at La Salle Manor, where they learned a little more about themselves and where they are headed. Since the main theme of junior year is one of preparation, students take the PSAT and ACT tests because both of these tests are required for entry into college. Also during junior year, students began examining opportunities offered by different colleges and viewing the many options for the nearby future.

Junior Carl Oros, one of over 100 chemistry students prepares a solution using water while in the lab.

Maintaining Top Shape

Throughout the entire year, the maintenance staff with Herman Wilkens as Chief Engineer, kept the school and the campus in top shape for the students. Among its many tasks were: repairing broken desks and chairs, shoveling snow, and solving any problems which might occur on St. Patrick soil. Also to be considered part of the maintenance crew are the cleaning ladies. The cleaning ladies washed the blackboards and kept the floors, windows, desks, and corridors dust-free.

Chief Engineer Herman Wilkens assembles the tools he will use for his next repair job.

Off Season Conditioning

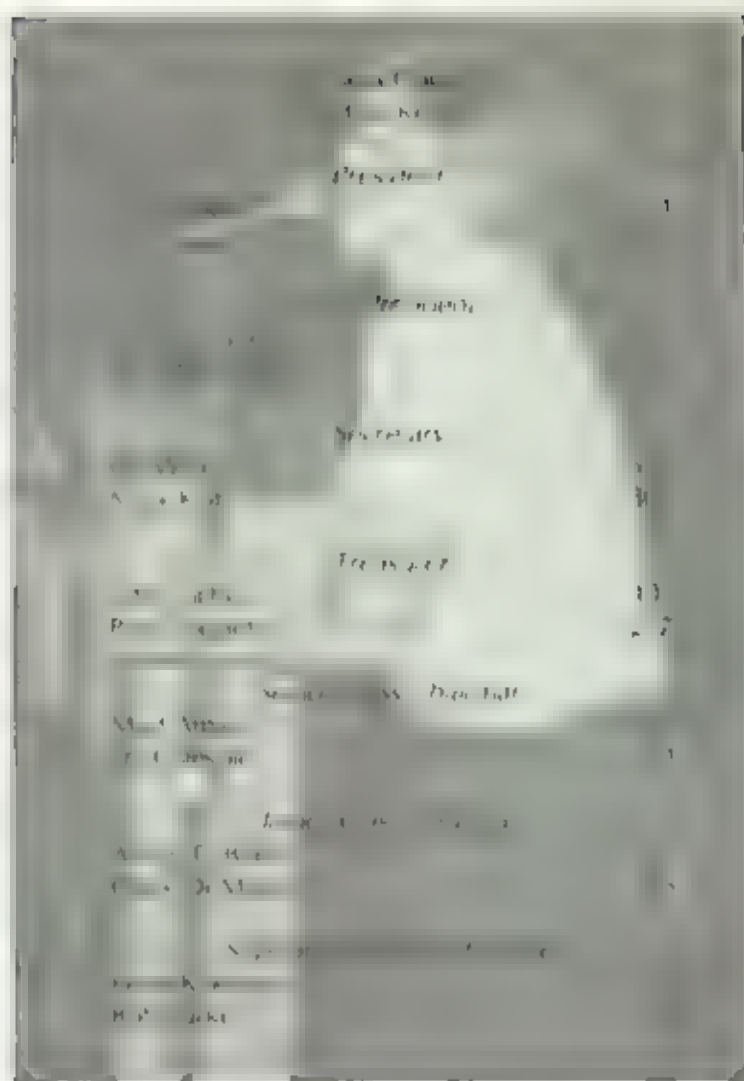

Mr. Collins (background) supervises his instant assembly line

The Olympic Club consists of members of the St. Pat's athletic teams who, through an organized weightlifting program, attempt to keep in good physical shape during their off seasons. Under the direction of moderator Mr. Niall Collins, the club organized a car wash in May which was held in the school parking lot. In an assembly-line fashion, the members soaped, rinsed and dried the cars of approximately 175 customers. The profits realized from their efforts were used to purchase additional weightlifting equipment in order to improve their conditioning program.

Electing Student Leaders

Every spring students are allowed to nominate themselves for Student Council offices. After some mild campaigning, primary elections are held to select two candidates for each office. These remaining candidates put up posters and present their platforms to the assembled electors.

Planning the Future

On October 15th, the counseling department sponsored College Night which was held in the school gym. Twenty-three colleges and three branches of the armed forces were represented. Juniors, seniors and their parents had the opportunity to talk with representatives of the institutions which interested them. Discussions ranged from financial aid to entrance requirements of the various schools.

Wrapping-Up Four Years

The year for which we all had been waiting since the day that we had arrived at St. Pat's had finally come. The final wrap-up of our four years was a year of change for many of us. We welcomed a new principal who brought with him a new class schedule which gave a new feeling to the school day. We saw one of the best years that the Basketball team ever had and we congratulated the Congregation of the Christian Brothers when it became 300 years old. We all looked forward to the Senior Prom and those who attended shared in a great event together for the last time.

However, most of all, we anticipated our graduation. We were all about to go our separate ways: many of us on to college and some of us out into the working world. Yet, we will never forget the people whom we have met and the knowledge that we have gained in our four years at St. Patrick's.

Seniors Richardo Lopez and Edgar Sanchez discuss the days at Ivities while finishing their lunch.

Seeking Knowledge

The library, which contains many thousands of books, is a service provided to all the students and faculty. The library is operated by Bro. Joel Dolan with the assistance of Mrs. Carol Carter. Many students used the library as a research center, but most used it as a quiet place to study. The library also provided a wide variety of the latest magazines which were available to update the student on the current events of the world. By the time the year was over, many students and faculty used the library to gain new knowledge for themselves.

Students, like senior Kevin King, often request change from Mrs. Carter in order to Xerox important information for their research projects.

Reunion of the Best

In 1932 the St. Patrick High School Varsity Basketball team won the national championship. One of the few times that the members of the team reunited was this year. The reunion was arranged by Mr. Robert Summins, a member of the Parents' Club. During halftime of one of the varsity basketball games, the old-timers were individually introduced. Perhaps the most esteemed member of the 1932 team's Ray Meyer, the basketball coach for the DePaul Blue Demons. Mr. Meyer received a standing ovation from his teammates and all those present in the gym. There was a short reception afterwards in the cafeteria for all those in attendance. There the alumni, especially Ray Meyer, signed autographs of their 1932 team picture.

In Quest of the Best

For the second year in a row, the Art Club hosted an art contest in which only St. Pat's students can participate. To make the contest more fair, two separate judgments took place: one for the art students and one for the non-art students. Each of the judgments had its own set of prizes. $30 for first place, $20 for second, and $10 for third. In the art student category, senior Charles Perchak won all three prizes. Honorable Mention awards were won by Marty Dudzinski, Bill Minogue, and Andy Ideler. For the non-art students, first place was won by John Wisowaty, second place by Manuel Herrera, and third place by Tom Fitzpatrick. Honorable Mention was given to Manuel Herrera and Tom Fitzpatrick.

Vice-Principal Hilary Kokosinski closely examines one of the many entries in this year's Art Contest "Mr. K" along with Bro. Neil and Mr. Chuck Schmidt, were the judges who determined the final winners.

End of an Era

The 1981 Commencement Exercises ended an era for the Jordan family. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jordan have sent seven sons to St. Patrick High School, the last, Martin, graduated this year. During the graduation ceremony on May 24th, Bro. Neil Kietfe and Mr. Hilary Kokosinski presented a plaque to Mr. and Mrs. Jordan for their continued support of St. Pat's. The plaque reads: In appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jordan for seven graduates over a period of 17 consecutive years, 1964-1981 — Michael '68, John '72, Dennis '74, Daniel '77, David '78, Patrick '79, Martin '81.

The era may have ended for the boys, but Mary, the Jordan's daughter, will continue the Jordan's involvement at St. Pat's. At the end of the 1981-1982 school year, Mary will have completed her third year as a cheerleader. Congratulations to all the members of the Jordan family.

Mathletes Score High in Competition

Many high schools compete against one another in the field of mathematics by having their top math students take the National Math Exam. The top three scores from every school determine that school's overall rank in the state. Eighty St. Pat's students took the exam, and the top three scorers were Joe Wisniewski, Eric Kindahl, and Mark Kaczowski, respectively. The scores of these three seniors gave our school a state rank of eleven. If those same three scores were used in Kentucky, St. Pat's would have been ranked number one.

Seven top St. Pat's math students took another exam called the Chicago Area All-Star Math Contest. The top thirty-two students from the Chicagoland Area would go to the University of Maryland as representatives of Chicago sometime during the summer of 1981. Senior Mike Dolatowski was the only Shamrock to score well enough to be one of the thirty-two going to Maryland. Senior Joe Wisniewski was selected as one of the runners-up of the contest.

Stressing Foreign Language Study

The third annual induction ceremony of the Spanish Honor Society was held on Wednesday, May 20th, in the Main Lobby of our school. Sixteen new students were inducted into the organization to join the fourteen others who were inducted last year. Society Moderator Bro. Patrick O'Neill and Principal Bro. Neil Kieffe addressed the gathering of students, parents, and guests, and stressed the importance of foreign language study in today's world. All members were formally inducted into the society during the candlelighting segment of the ceremony. Awards were given in the area of service to Michael Bersani and Anthony Rzany. For scoring very well on the National Spanish Test, Joseph Shugrue, Anthony Bongiorno, and Thomas Brady received certificates of excellence. Richard Cesario, Harry Palas, Dino Cozzone, Michael McKewin, Thomas Brady, John Grendzinski, and Nicholas Howard, all freshmen or sophomores, were awarded trophies for scoring well on a special Spanish test created by seniors Mike Bersani and John Kolbus.

Spanish Honor Society President John Kolbus leads the inductees in reciting the juramento de la Sociedad (oath of the Society).

Award-Winning Talent

In February of this school year thirteen St. Pat's students won awards in the 1981 Scholastic Art Awards Chicago Regional Competition. The Hallmark Honor Prize (Best of Show) was given to Junior Jim Lofton. Jim's work of art went on to be judged in the National Competition in New York City. Also going on to the National Competition were the art works of the three Blue Ribbon Finalists Marty Dudzinski, John Swiatowiec, and John Wiger. John Affrunti, Jim Lofton, Chuck Perchak, Keith Slawson, and John Swiatowiec won Honorable Mention Awards.

World Gains from Broken Records

Eight records were set for the mission collections during the 1980-1981 school year. The highest school total, $11,975.00, for one year capped the record setting year. Bro. Anthony Quattrochi's junior homeroom 107 led the school with a total collection of $1,291.79. Other department leaders were Bro. John Bease's freshman homeroom 11, Miss Cassin's sophomore homeroom 34, and Mr. Venegoni's senior homeroom 108. Another record this one set by the junior class, was a junior class high of $3,735.69.

Mr. Max Kurland moderated the collection and Bro. Thomas Dominic compiled all statistics and records. Mr. Kurland counted the money and sent it to the Propagation of the Faith. Some of the money was then used to buy supplies for missions in Africa, India, South America and other third world nations. The remaining funds were sent directly to various missions to help feed thousands of unfortunate children all over the world.

"Team of the Week"

On February 27th, St. Patrick's varsity basketball team defeated Marist and captured a second place tie with Marist in the conference standings. For their excellent performance that night, WLS, in cooperation with the 7 UP Company, awarded St. Pat's squad with the honor of "Team of the Week." The award was given during a special recognition assembly which was held during 3rd period on March 10th. The 7 UP representative introduced Brent Miller from WLS who presented the trophy to captains Mark Pytel and Bob Kohndorfer, and Coach Kurland. Mr. Kurland then briefly highlighted the season and spoke of his pride in the St. Pat's cagers because of their spirit and accomplishments this year.

Activities Adjust to New Interests

In the second semester of this school year, a new type of war game club was created, called Dungeons and Dragons. The club's president was James Lofton, and the members met every Friday in the main lobby or in Student Services. Each session is run by a member nicknamed the Dungeon Master. He presents a situation or a problem to the players and they must attempt to solve it or elaborate on it. They do this by choosing and portraying a character. That character must face all the consequences that are brought about by the game. This 15 member organization demonstrates St. Pat's ability to adjust its extra-curricular program to meet the interests of its students.

The players, who portray certain characters, try to solve a problem or situation that was presented to them by the Dungeon Master.

Captain Craig, an airline pilot from Trans World Airlines, in his session with Jozefek and Eddie Weist about careers in commercial aviation.

On Thursday, November 20, 1980, the St. Patrick National Honor Society sponsored the school's first Careers Night. The approximately 150 students and adults who attended the program benefitted from it. The evening began promptly at 7:00 with each of the three sessions lasting one-half hour. The careers that were presented were those of Legwork, Engineering, Blue Collar Business, and Science. During the sessions, which were held in classrooms throughout the school, the speaker took 20 minutes to explain his or her occupation, and the remainder of the time was devoted to asking questions.

St. Pat's Honors Christian Brothers in Parade

The annual Saint Patrick Day Parade was held on a chilly and partly sunny March 17th 1981. Unlike other years, where the parade ran on State Street, this year's parade was held on Dearborn Street. The day began at the old Saint Patrick Church, where Cardinal Cody celebrated mass. The group from St. Pat's later moved on to Michigan Avenue and occupied the 32nd spot in the procession. The float, which emphasized the Christian Brothers and their 300 years of service to youth, carried several Brothers and Shamrocks. Grand Marshall Bro. Neil, our cheerleaders, and several leprechauns walked alongside the float and greeted the gathered crowds.

More Than Just Teaching

Possessing advanced degrees in a variety of pursuits, the faculty daily demonstrates its desire and interest in imparting knowledge to its young charges. However, besides spending many hours in classroom related activities, these men and women also perform a myriad of other duties which support and enhance the educational process at St. Pat's. It is not unusual to find faculty members around the premises in the hours immediately after school and into the evening, devoting their free time to such activities as coaching, moderating, general supervision and driving the bus and vans to a variety of events. It is due to the generosity of the Brothers and lay staff that St. Pat's has achieved the success for which it is known.

Mr. Bill Easton warms up the school bus before he drives the group to the retreat he will later conduct.

Filling the Void

Attempting to fill the void that often invades the stomach of the developing adolescent, the St. Patrick Cafeteria Crew spends many hours in preparing the repasts that will fill this frequent need. Students were able to avail of snacks before school while awaiting first or second period. In the intervening hours, the ladies worked untiredly to have lunch ready for the first 4th period lunch and the 3 that quickly followed. After the last lunch during the second half of the 5th period, they cleaned up and began to organize the next day's meals.

The Cafeteria Crew, L. to R.: Peg Devine, Elaine Shakiw, Kathy Deane, Kay Cuddy, Lorraine Rabiola, Gerri Plesko, Marie Knekow, Michele Miller, Val Fulkerson (Mgr.), Ted Rockwell, Bev Bazaras. With their efforts, under the supervision of Mrs. Fulkerson, prepared the donuts and meals. Mr. Rockwell was responsible for general cleanup of the crew.

Developing an Honors Program

With the start of the new school year, Mr. Gordon Will was appointed Coordinator of the Honors Program. Beginning immediately, he interviewed department chairmen, teachers and students to evaluate the current program to determine its relevance. After many long hours interviewing and tabulating statistics, he developed a revised program for the honors students which will be incorporated in the curriculum over the next four years. These efforts give evidence of St. Pat's constant attempt to improve and enhance its curriculum and, as a result, its students

Editor's Note / Acknowledgements

When classes began in August of 1980, as it is noted a number of significant changes the daily class schedule had changed, a bunch of new teachers were around, there was a new man behind the principal's desk, many faculty members had acquired new or different responsibilities, and an intramural program was incorporated into the St. Pat's routine. The staff of the Shamrock 1981 attempted to locate and focus on these changes, whether they were academic or non-academic. This theme, focusing on a year of change, determined what the cover, the endpapers, and the section division pages will look like.

Now, I would like to thank all the people who are involved with the production of this book. The people who should receive the most thanks are the members of my staff. They devoted countless hours of their time in the production of this book, and they created the pleasant atmosphere in the yearbook office that made yearbook work easier. I also want to acknowledge the yearbook moderators, Brother John Blease, and Mr. Jim Lithgow. Their contributing most of their personal time to the preparation of this book. Mr. Tom Wente, the Taylor Publishing Company representative, should be recognized for his concern of our yearbook problems. Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Jontake from Kunt Studios provided the photographers necessary to capture the highlights of our school year. All of the moderators and coaches should be recognized for providing us with the information of their respective teams or organizations. A special thanks should go to Bro. Norbert for providing the staff with badly needed equipment

(typewriters) and information when our sources were exhausted. On a personal note, my parents should once again receive a super special thanks for having the patience necessary to put up with me and the pain-in-the-eyebrow yearbook work. A little more special thanks should go out to Pete, Roger, John, and Kenny for their spiritual support.

Finally, I'd like to mention that senior year was definitely the most memorable. Different events, like Jeff Governale's flex for the missions, the crazy behavior of fans during basketball games, and Steve Schreiner wearing an outrageous space suit for grub day, have left a favorable (and a little crazy) impression of St. Pat's on my mind.

Although the Shamrock 1981 was not all I wanted it to be, I feel that this yearbook will bring about a true recollection of 1980-1981 school year. Only time will tell whether or not four years at St. Pat's have conditioned me to become a better individual. As for now, I just want to say that life at St. Pat's has been a slice.
